Zöbern, Austria , October 30 - November 1, Sunday marked the triumphant conclusion of the 2026 EUME Blessed Family Department (BFD) Summit, bringing together a vibrant, dedicated community of 82 participants for a truly transformative gathering. The event showcased a beautiful cross-section of the movement, drawing seasoned BFD leaders, matching supporters, and national figures alongside a rising generation of young people eager to take active roles in the department's future. It was a summit defined by deep generational synergy, ensuring that the wisdom of experienced leaders seamlessly intertwined with the fresh, hopeful perspectives of young families already stepping up to serve.

A profound point of pride for the organizers was the deliberate design of a highly accessible and inclusive environment, successfully welcoming five young families who attended with their infants. The presence of these families - including the summit's youngest participant at just three months old - brought a tangible spirit of life and warmth to the proceedings, embodying the very essence of the community's family-focused mission.

The program itself was rich, dynamic, and meticulously crafted to address the real-world needs of the attendees. Participants navigated through an inspiring exhibition of ongoing projects and immersed themselves in specialized masterclasses tailored to highly requested topics. To foster genuine alignment, the summit featured structured, deep-dive group discussions centered entirely on blessed family care, coupled with clear, targeted presentations designed to resolve common points of confusion. The collaborative spirit was further elevated by impactful contributions from representatives of High Noon, Original Energy Code, and the EUME HTM Department, who shared their unique content and beautifully expanded the summit's educational horizons.
