Social Justice and the Headwing Perspective

By David on Sep 17, 2020 08:35 pm

Since George Floyd's tragic death in May at the hands of a Minneapolis police officer, the United States has been experiencing societal convulsions not seen since the 1960s. A spate of protests—violent and nonviolent—have caused great distress in many American cities. The crisis has brought issues that have long plagued the nation, such as racial [...]

Listening and Reconciliation

By Rev. Achille Acolaste on Sep 17, 2020 08:10 pm

It is said we have two ears and one mouth for a wise reason — “so that we can listen twice as much as we speak.” Thus, the question I should ask myself daily is, “How good of a listener am I?” I would like to believe that I use my ears all the time [...]

Tuning Fork Spirituality

By James Edgerly on Sep 17, 2020 07:01 pm

About fifteen years ago, my sister Gail offered this confident refutation of my “high religion” approach to spirituality: “Jim, I’ll tell you where I see God. I see God inside people, inside the people around me, inside myself.”

“Unacceptable,” I thought at the time. “That’s so humanistic and so belittling to God.” On the other [...]

“Sexual Integrity”: What Is It? And Why Do We Want It?

By Andrew Love on Sep 17, 2020 07:01 pm

In recent years, we have seen startling falls from grace by major personalities – Bill Cosby, Matt Lauer, and Harvey Weinstein, to name a few. Decades of productive public life were all dead-ended in an instant, due to credible allegations of sexual misbehavior. The drama of these stories goes to the deep core of personal [...]

Moving Above and Beyond Polarization

By Henri Schauffler on Sep 17, 2020 07:01 pm

In recent years, Americans have become troubled by the vivid polarization occurring in our country. This polarization is becoming rooted in our culture, sharply divided between “conservative” and “liberal.” Division in the cultural sphere drives the related political stand-off between “right wing” and “left wing.” Polarized views never seem to be superficial when it comes [...]

What is Happiness After All?

By Mark Anderson on Sep 17, 2020 07:01 pm

We all want to know the future because it will affect our happiness and well-being. Who will win the presidential election? Is the stock market going to go up... or down? Will I get the promotion at work that I deserve? If we stake our happiness on future events, if we are just waiting for that better job or promotion to finally happen, then we are [...]

Searching for Peace

By John Hessel on Sep 17, 2020 07:01 pm

The United States is again embroiled in a social upheaval over race relations. Peace and civil discourse are difficult to find, as insults, stereotyping, and name-calling prevail. I am listening carefully, but I can't hear a voice for a better, less unfair, more peaceful future. Today's turbulence reminds me of the 1960s anti-war movement, which [...]
