A Season of Gratitude

When we see all that our CARP chapters have been up to, we are left with a big smile on our faces. In the season of Thanksgiving, we saw so many gatherings happen whether it was a Friendsgiving event, a cozy dinner, or a big community party. We love seeing how there are so many opportunities that our friends can plug into. It truly shows that where CARP is, a loving community is being built.

We would also like to express our gratitude for all of your support from Giving Tuesday! This season is the time where we gear up for our end of the year campaign. It is through contributions like these where we are able to fund our students well with chapter care packages, scholarships, programming, and many more! If you would still like to make a donation, here's how you can contribute:

1. Give online at carplife.org/donate
2. Make out checks to 'NCARP' and send them to NCARP, 481 8th Ave #A6, New York, NY 10001
3. When you shop on Amazon, shop through smile.amazon.com and pick 'National Collegiate Association for the Research of Principles, Inc' as the charity - we will receive a portion of your shopping proceeds. It's an easy way to give!

As we head into the last month of the semester, we acknowledge that this is the final stretch for our students (you got this!). There are many winter programs that are in the works! As we stay tuned to hear what's to come, check out what chapters have been up to recently:

Impacting the Culture of Love, Marriage, and Family through Education and Partnerships

Marriage. Family. Sexuality. There are many different opinions and perspectives about each of these topics—and the university has become a hotbed to converse about them... a few representatives spent a weekend in Princeton, New Jersey from October 28th to 29th for an annual conference hosted by the Love & Fidelity

Network (LFN) called Sexuality, Integrity, and the University (SIU).

CARP Boston Launches "Principles to Live By"

"Principles to Live By" began as a six-week virtual seminar during 2020, when a group of pastors and young people wished to present the first chapter of the Divine Principle through presentations and discussion groups. Pastors Catherine Ono, Heather Thalheimer, Joe Young, Sunhyun Miller and his dad Professor Wayne Miller, and CARP Boston President Luc Jean all wished to present the Divine Principle through practical, daily applications.

"Break the Stigma" Mental Health Awareness Walk

"Break the Stigma" was an event hosted by Sista Luv, an organization working to bring awareness to mental health issues. Many different organizations including CARP's partner organization Women's Federation for World Peace (WFWP) joined the event to connect with one another and share about their organizations.

CARP Hawaii Joins the Kulo'ou Ridge Trail Restoration

Six CARP Hawai'i leaders and members supported a local non-profit called Aloha Tree Alliance. They are "dedicated to mitigating climate change [by initiating and supporting] environmental projects to advance resilient forest ecosystems and food security for Hawai'i." In total there were 46 participants and we planted 120 native trees and shrubs! It was a great success!
