

New Essentials of Unification Thought ➔ The Theory of Ethics

---

<http://www.unification-thought.org/neut/Neut06.html>

Generations

...God's love is manifested through the various loves of the three object partners. God's love is the underlying force which breathes life into the four position foundation. Accordingly, the four position foundation is the vessel of perfect beauty through which we can receive and enjoy the fullness of God's love.

• Exposition of DP, p. 48

The Four Great Realms of Heart

...God's love is manifested through the various loves of the three object partners. God's love is the underlying force which breathes life into the four position foundation. Accordingly, the four position foundation is the vessel of perfect beauty through which we can receive and enjoy the fullness of God's love.

• Exposition of DP, p. 48

The Four Great Realms of Heart

To restore original order, three generations must cohabit (vertical) and brothers and sisters must have each other (horizontal). So the nuclear family is incomplete compared to the Original Idea, which can be discerned in the order of the universe.

• The Gist of UT, 1987

...God's love is manifested through the various loves of the three object partners. God's love is the underlying force which breathes life into the four position foundation. Accordingly, the four position foundation is the vessel of perfect beauty through which we can receive and enjoy the fullness of God's love.

• Exposition of DP, p. 48

The Three Great Kingships

...three kings in a family refer to grandparents, parents, and children. The grandparents are the king and queen of the past; the parents are the king and queen of the present; and children are the kings and queens of the future.

• New Essentials of UT, p. 543

...grandparents represent the spirit world and God. ... Therefore, from now on, grandparents will be the center of the family four position foundation... children and grandchildren have to attend their grandparents in the most respectful manner.

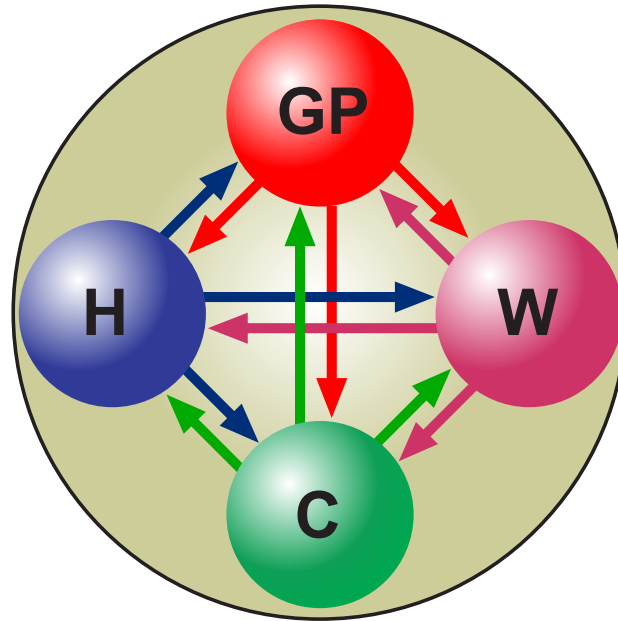

Parents are the king and queen representing the present world... Also, parents are the king and queen in the family. Children are the future head of the family... and of the world. Children also represent all the descendants... who are also future kings and queens.

• New Essentials of UT, p. 544

...the original concepts of grandparents, parents and children are very precious, and the conventional concepts are not able to convey the same noble sense as do the original concepts. There is no better means of expression than to use the concept of king in order to express their nobility, importance and gloriousness... Parents should not treat their children casually, even when their children are young. Rather, they should treat their children just as a king would treat his prince and princess... Therefore, from now, parents should not neglect their children. And children should attend their parents, regarding them as king and queen, and attend their grandparents, regarding them as honorable king and queen mother ...

• New Essentials of UT, p. 545

The Three Great Kingships The Realm of the Royal Family

...three kings in a family refer to grandparents, parents, and children. The grandparents are the king and queen of the past; the parents are the king and queen of the present; and children are the kings and queens of the future.

• New Essentials of UT, p. 543

...grandparents represent the spirit world and God. ... Therefore, from now on, grandparents will be the center of the family four position foundation... children and grandchildren have to attend their grandparents in the most respectful manner.

Parents are the king and queen representing the present world... Also, parents are the king and queen in the family. Children are the future head of the family... and of the world. Children also represent all the descendants... who are also future kings and queens.

• New Essentials of UT, p. 544

...we should look at the members of our family, and other families, as those who are as precious as kings and queens. Hence, a home is a royal palace.... After bequeathing his throne to his child, the king becomes the grandfather in the royal palace, and stays in the central position as the great king, representing the spirit world and God. A home is as precious as a royal palace...

• New Essentials of UT, p. 545

...the original concepts of grandparents, parents and children are very precious, and the conventional concepts are not able to convey the same noble sense as do the original concepts. There is no better means of expression than to use the concept of king in order to express their nobility, importance and gloriousness... Parents should not treat their children casually, even when their children are young. Rather, they should treat their children just as a king would treat his prince and princess... Therefore, from now, parents should not neglect their children. And children should attend their parents, regarding them as king and queen, and attend their grandparents, regarding them as honorable king and queen mother ...

• New Essentials of UT, p. 545

The Four Great Realms of Heart

In interpersonal relationships, the beauty that a subordinate returns in response to the love of a superior is called loyalty, and the beauty that children return in response to the love of their parents is called filial piety.

The Four Great Realms of Heart

In interpersonal relationships, the beauty that a subordinate returns in response to the love of a superior is called loyalty, and the beauty that children return in response to the love of their parents is called filial piety. The beauty that a wife returns in response to the love of her husband is called fidelity. The purpose of love and beauty is to enable two wholesome beings... to establish the four position foundation and realize the purpose of creation...

The Four Great Realms of Heart

In the family the parents show benevolence to the children, and the children practice filial piety toward the parents. These are vertical values on the family level...

• New Essentials of UT, p. 228

In interpersonal relationships, the beauty that a subordinate returns in response to the love of a superior is called loyalty, and the beauty that children return in response to the love of their parents is called filial piety. The beauty that a wife returns in response to the love of her husband is called fidelity. The purpose of love and beauty is to enable two wholesome beings... to establish the four position foundation and realize the purpose of creation...

• Exposition of DP, p. 38

The Four Great Realms of Heart

The education of... standards of conduct starts at home, practically as soon as a child is born. A child must be taught certain manners and customs, first at home, then both at home and in school. When a man fully understands and practices the the principled duty of a man, and a woman fully understands and practices the principled duty of a woman, the education of norm has been completed.

• Explaining UT, p. 225

The Three Great Kingships The Realm of the Royal Family

...three kings in a family refer to grandparents, parents, and children. The grandparents are the king and queen of the past; the parents are the king and queen of the present; and children are the kings and queens of the future.

• New Essentials of UT, p. 543

“attendance”

人情

feeling, emotion, sentiment, love, affection

人情 [ren qing], (1) what comes naturally to man, what is inherent in human nature; ...
(6) affection, love, personal attachment;
(7) a gesture of kindness or generosity
人情兒 a favor done to another
人情味 (兒) genuine human warmth

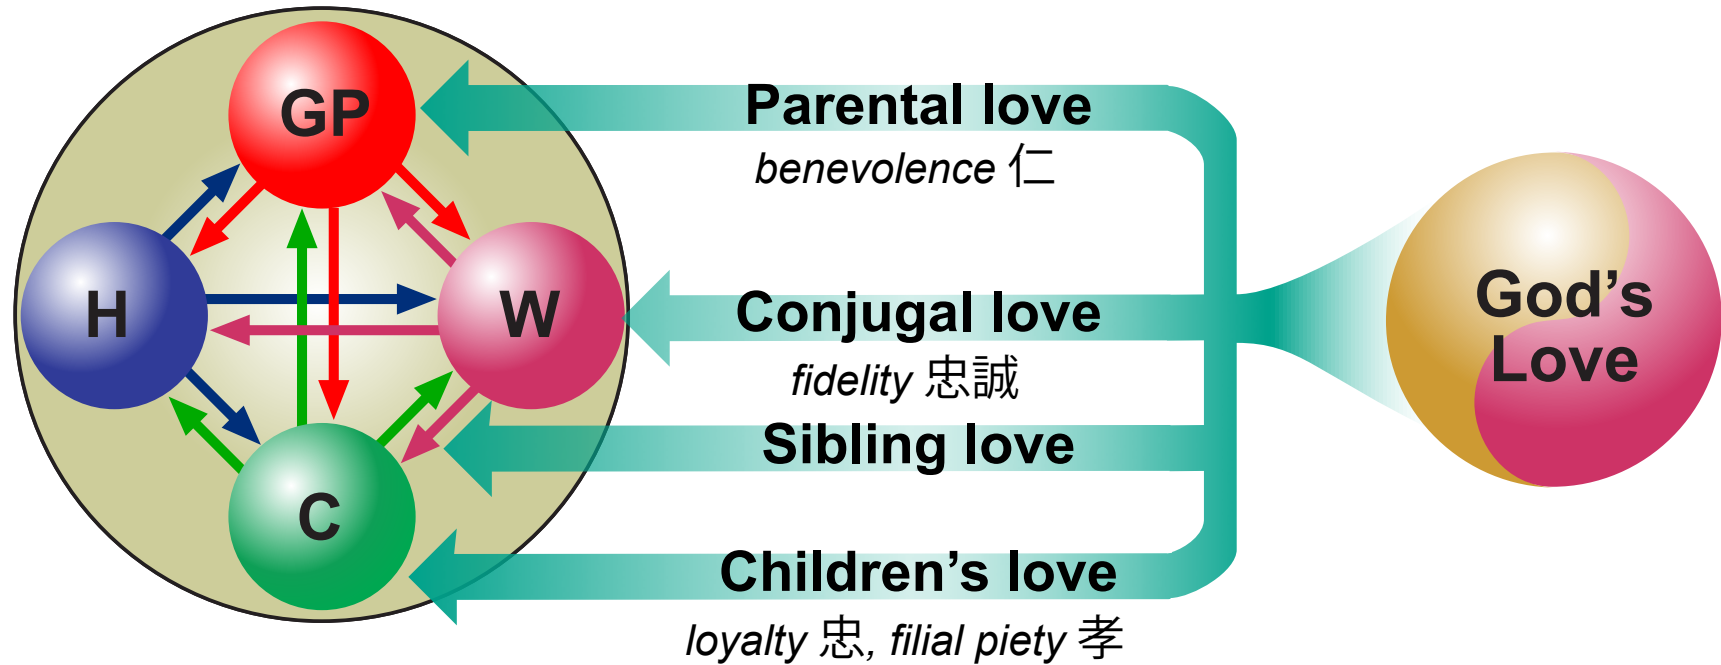

...the original concepts of grandparents, parents and children are very precious, and the conventional concepts are not able to convey the same noble sense as do the original concepts. There is no better means of expression than to use the concept of king in order to express their nobility, importance and gloriousness... Parents should not treat their children casually, even when their children are young. Rather, they should treat their children just as a king would treat his prince and princess... Therefore, from now, parents should not neglect their children. And children should attend their parents, regarding them as king and queen, and attend their grandparents, regarding them as honorable king and queen mother ...

• New Essentials of UT, p. 545

在心

在心 [zai xin], (be) attentive, alert, on the watch
... to keep in mind

The Four Great Realms of Heart The Three Great Kingships The Realm of the Royal Family

*Our family...pledges to perfect
the Four Great Realms of Heart,
the Three Great Kingships and the Realm of the Royal Family
by centering on true love.*