On March 25, 2023, the Women's Federation for World Peace Kenya celebrated International Women's Day with other affiliated organizations and partners. The event was held in Nairobi, Kenya and was attended by women leaders from various NGOs and leaders from community-based organizations.

The chief guest was Dr. Agnes Awour, the founder and Director of the Hekima Kaka Association. Other guests were the Brahma Kumaris Sisters, the Sikh Women Association leaders, former members of the parliament, women leaders from religious groups and various leaders of partnering NGOs.

The theme of the event was, "Women as the Turning Point of History" and the President of WFWP Kenya, Dr. Susan Kone, gave a speech on the vision and mission of the WFWP which is to create a peaceful environment in the world through women taking up their rightful place beside the men and working together in partnership and complementing each other. The guests appreciated the works of the organization since its founding and many organizations are interested in partnering and working together to impact the society for a happy, harmonious and peaceful world.

The event started with a meditation session from the Brahma Kumaris Sisters, Dipti, and this was followed by speeches. All the speakers gave positive messages and they were all in agreement with the message of one of WFWP's co-founders, Dr. Hak Ja Han Moon, affectionately known as Mother Moon. She spoke that the solutions to the world's problems can only be resolved by the logic of love.

Five women leaders were appointed as Global Women Peace Ambassadors and they promised to work together with WFWP to advocate and establish peaceful families, communities and nation and several women leaders also received their certificates of life membership.

The event ended with a prayer for peace from various women and partners who represented their institutions. In total, 75 guests participated in the event.
