I tried to use the opportunity to pray in CheonShimWon as often as possible. I've been going through not an easy season of my life, to say the least. So when I prayed, I really wanted to be as honest as possible, desperately telling God that I didn't feel His love and asking Him to show it to me. Because, how can I witness and testify about it when I haven't experienced it myself? Straight after that I felt someone's hands on my shoulders hugging me from behind. I grabbed them wondering who that might be. Maybe my daughter? I turned around and saw a sister who I know is pretty spiritually open. I just burst into tears feeling Heavenly Parent had sent her to me. The next day I asked her what had made her do this. She said, "I saw you there. I prayed and God told me to hug you and kiss you. I was a little reluctant to do it, that's why it looked so weird." I'm immensely grateful to Heavenly Parent for this experience and to brothers and sisters in Czech Republic for organising this event. Aju.

(First part)

It was my second time doing main vocal. It was a bit different than the last time I did it because this time I got a chance to do the ending part as well. I think the first session was really good, I could really focus on giving my best, but the second chanyang session (the 30 min long one) was not as I wanted it to be. I did pray in CheonShimWon before, but right before the chanyang sessions I was talking to someone and I got a bit distracted because of that. So I felt really sorry toward God, felt like I failed him to be honest but in a way that was a good experience because then I had a really deep prayer and I cried so much. I usually connect with God more when I cry in prayer. The next day at our last chanyang session (Ancestors Liberation) I was the first main actually and I wanted to invest as much as I could. I think some kind of spirit entered my body the moment we all walked on the stage. I just started smiling and it really felt like it wasn't just me smiling, because I was kind of surprised how wide my smile "felt". I was smiling the whole time when I was on the stage and really felt so happy that I had a role thanks to which I could contribute to creating the atmosphere. After the session I went to CheonSimWon and I cried there again and then just stayed there for another 10 or more minutes sitting, calming down. It was beautiful.

(Second part)

Otherwise I really enjoyed the CheonBo education and vigil prayer. CheonBo education was really good, it somehow gave me a family feeling! I was deeply moved by the video of True Mother crying and expressing how hard it has been for her. I instantly started crying, because we rarely get to see how difficult her mission actually is, I feel. Grateful that this video is easily accessible on YouTube and I really want to show it to younger generation in Poland as a preparation to receive True Mother in May. Vigil prayers were also amazing, I was shocked at how loud I prayed, but it really felt sincere and I could say things that were really meaningful to me and that were heavy on my heart. Just hope that I can keep my determination and energy to work on the things I mentioned in the prayer! This event brought me closer to True Mother and I would really like to come to the next Cheonbo event to prepare even better for when True Mother comes to Europe.

I was in the Chanyang team and I really enjoyed it from the beginning. At first I didn't even know what I was going to do, because I had never experienced CheonBo and now I could be a part of it. I was at the drum and it was great. I learned a lot of new things and realized what a gift we have to be the second generation and how wonderful a community we have. I enjoyed the weekend a lot and met a lot of new and great brothers and sisters. So I want to say thank you that I could be a part of it and I would definitely go again.

This is the first time I received such big responsibility (stage manager) on an event like this. I was feeling exited and anxious about having all these responsibilities. I wanted to deliver my best to make the Cheonbo a successful and memorable event for all the participants Onsite and Online. I always knew that events like this one, take a lot of effort and you need a determined staff and people around to do it. But this time I was part of the staff team, and I can say I admire people organizing these events even more. To make the event a great success we needed to unite all together and work towards our goals. I especially admire Pres. InPyo Moon's team that arrived in Prague and worked day and night to allow such event to even happen. This event was a real boost to our community, especially our young 2nd generation who felt they had an impact in this event. I want to give thanks to everyone present at the Cheonbo for making it happen.

Leo Jakubáč, Male, Prague, Czech Republic, CheonBo 2 days Event, 09 – 10.03.2024

I enjoyed the event from the bottom of my heart. Doing side vocal on chanyang was great experience for me. Dancing and singing at the same time while keeping the rhythm was much more difficult than I thought at first. I came as the last person for the training and was not doing well but thanks to the help of my brothers, Heavenly Parents and True Parents I was able to perform on the stage. I am grateful for this opportunity to connect more to the spirit world and receive lots of love from Heaven

I did side vocal in Chanyang session. When I saw the audience from the stage, I was feeling special. I thought that there were many ancestors in Czech Republic who needed to be restored, because Czech Republic had a difficult history. And I thought how long the heavenly parent had been waiting for this day. I am grateful that we could have the opportunity to improve Czech Republic's spirituality through the event, before True Mother come to Europe. And I'm glad I was able to participate.

I am so grateful that I could have joined the Changyang team, again circumstances where not easy but since I left my job I did find time to be fully participating. First few days, where hard especially as I did struggle to keep my spirit high as I had so many responsibilities. And with all that pressure my mood and energy was low. My situation got even worse when I got into few arguments with people about really unimportant things and felt that I was overlooked by my leaders. I really did let my ego overpower my heart, something that influenced my experience for a few days. This mood had impact on me mentally I did doubt myself if I even can or should be on the stage, if I am capable enough. It is interesting how Heavenly Parent works, I doubted myself and yet was all the time on the stage during Chanyang Yeoksa.

After first Chanyang Yeoksa, I thought that I shouldn't have started as I did many mistakes in it. Even though I made many mistakes I still tried to give it my fullest, put everything into it. Second Chanyang, was much better, less mistakes as I did listen to many tips from my friends and CheonBo staff and tried to understand, what I could improve. Last session was one of the best in my opinion, I put everything into that as I was doing it for my "Heavenly Father above" those words stuck out for me when I was singing. I did not feel any pain or tiredness, I was truly free, no thoughts, no struggles, no difficulties. With one mission in my mind, to give energy from Heavenly Parent to my brothers and sisters. Looking back to the CheonBo event, I had grown spiritually and mentally. I had many realizations: I am so happy that our community could host this event and that people, who had joined, could grow with me and come closer to God and understand their own hearth. I want to take it as foundation for our community and youth generation to build on this and continue growing.
