On Monday the lecture "What Darwin didn't know" attracted a lot of interest.

Invited by UPF, Johannes Stampf spoke about the fallacies of Darwinism.

Although several cloudbursts fell shortly before the start, the hall in our Peace Embassy was well filled.

Johannes Stampf, who lives in Vienna and has given numerous lectures on this issue explained the differences between "evolution" and "origin" or "macro" and "micro" evolution.

He compared Darwinism, Intelligent Design, and Creationism.

He gave a lucid explanation of the process of creating any object.

One regular guest commented that it was the best lecture UPF has organized so far.
