Champions of Love

"No one has ever seen God; but if we love one another, God lives in us and his love is made complete in us."

1 John 4:12

Over the last few years there has been no shortage of events that bend our reality and seriously challenge us all both on a personal, as well as a collective level. In times of prolonged stress tension naturally builds up, which may evoke a myriad of different responses ranging from emotional fatigue to short-temperedness, and in the worst cases even mental illnesses. Add to that constant isolation and it becomes one heck of a recipe for the breakdown of our social environment - something that unfortunately we now may be all too well familiar with.

Additionally, us Europeans have recently observed an outburst of sheer evil and destruction the likes of which most of had never before witnessed and never thought we would. War has plagued humanity for all of history, and yet encountering it so close to us has left many in shock. An overwhelming sense of helplessness troubles the consciousness in the face of such catastrophe.

Hence, for this summer of 2022 we have chosen to focus our attention on Love. Just as countless generations before us, we too are called to conduct lives of servitude and compassion in the face of greediness and hatred. To not fall prey to an overwhelmingly challenging and frightening environment, but to instead challenge it in big and small ways through the adoption of personal responsibility. Recognizing the importance of this calling, especially in current times, we aim to create together a workshop that empowers us to not only be responsive to the calling of Love, but to become its Champions.
