Sixteen families attended the Special Grace Holy Wine Ceremony in Kodiak, Alaska. It was a beautiful day and it felt like those who attended did so with gratitude and sincerity. The congregation received about one hour of education about the Holy Wine Ceremony. The various steps went smoothly and with a joyful spirit.

Jai Nan Fiala, a ceremony participant, shared, “I have four adult children living at different locations. Months ago I informed them of the ceremony and encouraged them to participate at their local churches. At the time of taking my Holy Wine, my deepest wish was that all my children will have faith in True Parents and receive this Special Grace. Such parental love to my physical children is similar to True Parents’ heart to humanity. Additionally, I sense that in the present day all people have pain and difficulties. These cannot be resolved by human effort alone. Only a universal spiritual awakening can correct such a huge evil influence. I believe the Special Grace comes at the right time to empower us to make such a shift.”
