Inspiration for Parents – Words from True Parents

A booklet of True Parents' words on parenting, just for parents. True Parents describe family as the “School of Love” and identify parents’ love for their child as the highest form of love...

Hidden Expectations and Your Marriage

Expectations are natural, but when they are unconscious and below the surface, they can wreak havoc on our marriages! Uncovering what they are is the first step, and then learning to manage them is the next!

Love Is A Verb—Pushing the Pause Button

The desire to love is not itself love. Love is an act of will—namely an intention and action. Will also implies choice. We do not have to love. We chose to love.

True Parents describe Family as the “School of Love” and identify parents’ love for their child as the highest form of love. There’s nothing closer to Heavenly Parents’ Heart than the parent-child relationship. Through investing in your relationship with your child, you are also investing in your relationship with God. The greater the love of parent and child the greater the love you can experience from God, as well as, joy you can bring to God.
