Friday, 6th May 2016

Our dearest Parents & Families,

Yesterday marked our official conclusion of DONE Mission One, 2016. We wanted to share with you a short insight into our 3 month journey, beginning February 2nd and lasting until May 5th.

Following our kick off workshop in February, we spent 7 weeks in fundraising training, experiencing a variety of countries, teams and meeting people of all backgrounds, as well as discovering new realisations. After that, the entire group travelled together to Prague to conclude the fundraising period and enjoyed some well-deserved time together as well as moments for sharing and personal reflection.

April 1st saw us return to the 'DONE house' in Slovakia for 2 weeks of educational content, presented by one of our close friends, William Haines (from the U.K.), Armando Lozano (from Madrid) & our ESGD staff group; Julius, Patrick & Yebuny. William explored the existence of God's Providence throughout history, showing us a memorable video from 1976 of the events that took place that year, including the Washington Monument and Yankee Stadium events. With the spirit of inheriting our blessed families' traditions, we celebrated True Parents Day, with a holy ceremony, some words on the value of investing into our relationships with our parents and a celebratory breakfast in the garden.

Yebuny Hanna ran a leadership training seminar from April 9th-10th, where we could learn valuable approaches to leadership, develop our public speaking skills and reflect on our attitude to become influential people in our friendships, families and communities. A big emphasis was placed on our potential to be impactful people in life, regardless of holding any official leadership position. The weekend was incredibly rich in content, activities & fruitful.

Celebrating True Parents Day

“The best leaders are those who people don’t know exist. Second best is those who are loved and praised. Third best is those who are feared. And worst are those who are despised”

“Leadership is about being aware of your impact & learning to control it well.”

Deeply rooted in the culture of Mission One, is the overall sense of responsibility & ownership encouraged within each of us as participants. Realising our potential more through our clarity & experience, each one of us volunteered to give a morning service throughout the month of April. These services have centred upon our personal relationship to the educational content we had been hearing.

From 15th-20th April, we participated in various service projects, which included presenting interactive cultural lessons to students in the local school, organising sports for the children in the community and repairing the playground in a kindergarten. A small group of us also visited a boy’s orphanage where we dug out the yard for a pond & later played games with them. We then organised Sunday service for the high-school aged BC’s here, where Pierre Moreau, Pierre Kwala & Elijah Lausberg gave sermons on ‘the Value of Investing into Relationships’.

The remaining 3 days we spent in the central Slovakian region of Hrinova. We were introduced to the mayor as being a part of the international youth group who visits annually and carries out service projects in the region. There we took part in repairing trail signs for tourists at a national park, offered a few more lessons and sports at the local school, rubbish clearing, painting the roof of a public lodge and preserving an old, traditional Slovakian bell tower.

Upon returning to the DONE house, we participated and helped host the Educator’s Leadership Workshop run by ESGD. Leaders involved with educating high school aged BC’s (HARP) from across Europe, Russia & even Japan were invited, we held many discussions together, exploring what true spiritual leadership is and appropriate steps forward in educating the 2nd generation.

Our schedule was packed, departing immediately after the workshop to Slovakia's famous Mountain Range the High Tatras. There we spent 2 and a half days of hiking as part of our 'Mountain Challenge', whilst spending evenings together, singing songs and holding small activities in a nearby mountain lodge. Grateful for comfortable weather, we immersed ourselves in the wintry landscape, being careful to take time to reflect personally as well as striving for deeper friendships.

Still in the mountains, we began to prepare for the East European (HARP) Workshop we were to organise next. Each DONE participant was assigned a staff role; either team leader, MC, sports coordinator or hospitality staff. The workshop ran over the final weekend of April, where approximately 50 BC's attended, coming from Slovakia, Hungary, Czech Republic, Croatia and Serbia. The theme of the workshop was "Change Now; Stepping Forward for Myself & Others", focusing on the importance of taking action in your personal life and in your relationships. It was encouraging to see each staff member fulfil their responsibilities and more, making effort to connect to each participant, planning follow up strategies to stay in touch in the future and also taking the opportunity to create lectures and share testimonies with the entire group. The workshop ran incredibly smoothly and according to some of the feedback from the participants, it was very successful overall. We believe this clearly reflects the months of each individuals' investment into the training and education offered on DONE, along with their growing desire to contribute and sense of responsibility.

This then led us directly into our graduation workshop, still full of education from Julius and Dr. Frank Kaufmann (from the U.S.) until the last day. Frank focused on actively creating our own genuine spiritual lives and also on the substantial way we can build our relationship to True Parents. These past few days saw attention to reflection once again, and concluded with celebrations and personal determinations we would like to offer beyond Mission One.

Overall, it has been an exceptional journey of self-growth and growth together as the Done Mission One group. We strongly believe the friendships formed here, will continue to flourish past our short time together, offering support and strength in our lives and futures ahead.
