

I Had a Dream about the Confusion of Ancestors Liberation

I had a dream!

After expressing my frustration and disappointment regarding ancestors liberation and the confusion and misinformation on the proper way to liberate and bless our ancestors, particularly about fees. I had a disturbing dream revealing somewhat what I had done with liberating my ancestors. It wasn't good.

Years ago in the early 2000, when Chung Pyung and Dae Mo Nim, were busy with ancestors liberation, following the advice we've told in Chung Pyung during special workshops that we should liberate our ancestors and just pay what you can. So on four or five occasions I did, thinking that Chung Pyung kept a record of it. But to my dismay, I found out that they didn't. I had to go through four or five years of empty check book copies to prove how much I had paid. I was so mad. Violently, I canceled the list of ancestors that I blessed and moved the money to liberate more generations. This is what had happened in those early years. Because there were two conflicting directions. Japanese members say pay this and Americans say pay that.

Anyway two nights ago, I had the following dream revealing what I had done back then.

Here is the dream

I dreamt I was in a familiar place like home and it appears that my wife had accepted or invited to take care of a group of visitors, I freaked out and refused to serve them and I cared less about them nor what members may say. Ought! It was awful. There is more to the dream, but not important.

However, I believe spirit world had picked up on it, because apart from my recent post on Hyung Jin and Sanctuary Church, I have been engaged in talks on ancestor liberation in the last 4 days. I think I really messed up big with my ancestors. I hope will come a time when I make them happy someday soon.
