Since 2020, funds raised by WFWP USA have been instrumental in supporting three crucial projects for North Korean children and families who closely partner with WFWP in South Korea. This year, we are pleased to share a report detailing recent activities that your generous donations have made possible. Consider making a donation today to help sustain these important programs.

KumKang School (금강학교) helps children who were born in North Korea and other developing countries to access quality education in South Korea

At KumKang School, teachers have observed a remarkable improvement in the students' well-being. Adapting to life in South Korea is challenging, especially after leaving their homes in North Korea and spending time in China. However, they are now forming friendships more easily and reducing conflicts with their parents. Language classes have also boosted their confidence in adapting to the South Korean dialect.

Grades increased by an average of 20 points for middle school students compared to last year. In particular, they received opportunities to naturally cultivate software literacy through computer education.

Various after-school programs and events have allowed students to gain a sense of accomplishment and confidence. The Inter-Korean Youth Choir, in particular, successfully performed on the founding day of the Inter-Korean Cultural Center, and the Unification Education Institute invited them to perform once again.

The "Family Love Program" has enabled students to express their feelings and enhance their listening skills with their families.

The school's meal support program is also contributing to addressing stunted growth experienced during their previous life in North Korea.

Kuen Kkum Sarang (큰 꿈 사랑) Providing education to facilitate the successful settlement of North Korean children in South Korean society

This after-school program currently supports 15 students, most of whom are children of North Korean defectors. Several students come from multi-national families, often facing marginalization in the broader culture.

The program also includes parent counseling to empower parents to better support their children.

Programs sponsored this year encompassed English classes, art psychotherapy, cooking classes, participation in art and book exhibitions, and reading and writing classes.

Art psychotherapy provided students with a healing experience through drawing techniques and emotional cleansing. Their appreciation and education of artworks have empowered them to develop their own careers and dreams, leading to exhibitions with their paintings and even the receipt of the U.S. Congressional Award, boosting their confidence in pursuing their aspirations.

North Korea Human Rights International Association (북한인권국제연대) Assisting North Korean defectors escaping via third countries

Over the past year, the NK Human Rights International Association has organized support and counseling for North Korean defectors who have entered South Korea. During each visit, essential supplies for their new lives are also provided.

A significant project this year involved participating in an exhibition showcasing the realities of life in North Korea. The exhibition featured materials, including crayon drawings and diaries, left by North Korean defector and his family during their time hiding in China when they met the Chairman of NK Human Rights International Association. The exhibition was held in four locations, raising awareness about life in North Korea and the daily challenges people face.

Each of these programs expresses profound gratitude for donations through WFWP, as they are helping many individuals find a more hopeful future where their dreams can become a reality. To learn more about the 1% Love Share Project and make a donation Click Here.

The 1% Love Share Project is a unique campaign initiated by Women's Federation for World Peace International to eradicate poverty through the donation of even 1% of your income per month to those less fortunate around the globe, especially women and children.

Why is this project unique? Simply put, because it targets the needs of the human family. And as members of the human family, it is up to us to look across boundaries and borders and to send our love to those suffering, hungry, and in need.

The project began in 2002 with the donation of 30,000 pairs of underwear to children in North Korea through the Korean Women Leader's Association. Since 2002, WFWP International has sent out over $335,000 in the form of emergency food aid, primary school construction, medical supplies, clothing, and much more. (See below for a list of projects supported by the 1% Love Share)

Since 2020, funds raised are supporting three very important projects for North Korean children and families who partner closely with Women's Federation for World Peace in Korea:

- Kuen Kkum Sarang (큰 꿈 사랑) provides education that fosters successful settlement of North Korean children in South Korean society.
- KumKang School (금강학교) helps children who were born in North Korea and other developing countries to access quality education.
- NK Human Rights International Association (북한인권국제연대) helps North Korean defectors who are escaping via third countries.

The goals of WFWP in supporting these projects are:

- Improve the quality of education for North Korean children.
- Provide opportunities for stable school life and self-reliance.
