Week FOUR

Under the guidance of experienced educators and media professionals (such as Jae Malabunga, at right), students will create a variety of inspirational and educational videos. Here are what last year's participants said about their experience at the Summer Media Institute:

"Barrytown's Summer Media Institute gave me another vision as to what I could possibly be doing with my life...I like the type of person it takes to create a documentary. It's a powerful medium to reach people, so it gave me insight into what it takes and how I could possibly fit into that."

"When you're behind the scenes, you see all the effort that goes in. I am proud of the videos we made."

"I learned so much about myself. It was more than I expected. It inspired me to pursue a career as a filmmaker."

Media Institute students will learn writing, directing, cinematography and editing techniques while working together in teams to create their own short videos. The program can be taken for academic credit towards a Bachelor of Arts degree or just for the sake of developing one's skills. (Federal student loans can cover the cost of attendance for those who are qualified.)
