

The Substantial Rebirth of Adam

This blog is dedicated to a topic I find actually central.

"The Rebirth of Adam." The question I would like to ask first, Is Rebirth one event? Or is it rather a process?

As Blessed Couples we are all familiar with the 3 Day Ceremony, where the position of husband is restored from Archangelic to Adam position. However according to True Father, this is a conditional event. Then how can a Blessed husband reach a substantial position of 'Adam'? Namely a true son of God? Unless the Blessed husband passes through a course to restore substantially the position of Adam, the original God given position, the Blessed husband is actually standing in dual positions.

Conditionally he is in a position of restored Adam. But on the other hand, in substantial way he is still much more in an Arch Angelic position. This can be a major contributing factor to all struggles in the Blessed Marriages and Families. Unless the husband can regain entirely his original God given position as Adam, he will find it next to impossible to absolutely fulfill his true position as true Subject in front of his wife as well as Family. Which is most crucial position as we all know that Subject position means to initiate the flow of true Love. So how can the husband achieve his true position? The only way is through his spouse.

However the only way the wife can to assist her husband in the process of Rebirth as true Adam, is if she can establish absolute unity in heart with LSA, who stands in a position of True Adam in front of God and in front of his Spouse the True Eve. How can Blessed wife's achieve such heartistic unity with True Father who also represents the Position of True Husband? First the Blessed Wife needs to become one in heart with True Mother, the true Eve.

Through this unity the Blessed wife can connect spiritually to the Heart of the true Adam, hence through this she can entirely restore her original heart as true Eve. Once she can substantially be reborn as True Eve, will she be able to have the heart of True Mother and help her Blessed husband to be completely Reborn as True Adam. Hence from that point the Blessed husband will be able to fulfill his true position as God's true Son and true Husband and a True Father. Aju
