Rev. Sun Myung Moon and Dr. Hak Ja Han Moon, WFWP co-founders, at the inauguration of WFWP on April 10, 1992

From local to global and from global to local, the Women's Federation for World Peace has served and embraced countries, families and individuals beyond religion, race or nationality.

On this 28th year since its founding on April 10, 1992, we express our heartfelt thanks to the thousands and millions of women and mothers around the globe who have invested their heart, soul and personal resources to grow this organization that is propelled by a mother's heart.

Countless projects, seminars, services and educational programs worldwide and locally have transformed women's (and men's) lives based on the simple philosophy of Living for the Sake of Others and Living By the Logic of Love.

Our deepest gratitude and respect go to our WFWP co-founder, Dr. Hak Ja Han Moon, also known as the "Mother of Peace", who has toured and impacted many parts of the globe within the last few years with her message of "Peace Starts with Me", and who continues to be a shining light and model for women in all parts of the world. Together with her husband and co-founder, the Rev. Dr. Sun Myung Moon, they foresightfully announced the arrival of the era of women, who indeed are playing an increasingly pivotal role in bringing about world peace.

The work of the Women's Federation for World Peace on each continent speaks for itself (visit www.wfwp.org) and also here in the United States, where we can now see the fruit of many years of investment.

As the globe is moving through this current crisis of the novel coronavirus, WFWP stays committed to Living by the Logic of Love. In the words of Dr. Hak Ja Han Moon, given on the occasion of the 10th anniversary of WFWP on April 10th, 2002 (full speech here):

"We must all push ahead in the conviction that no matter how wounded and scarred this world becomes, it can be healed and cleansed by the substantial work of a women's federation united in the vision of God's true love."

Happy 28th Anniversary to all who contributed for almost three decades to its growth and success!

Sincerely,

Angelika Selle and WFWP USA
