Provide joy and learning to refugee children!

Dear,

Help WFWP to uplift refugee children in Jordan!

Jordan refugees, especially children, need your help and support as Jordan is one of the largest refugee-hosting countries in the world. More than 10% of Jordan's population is made up of refugees (World Food Program USA). Imagine the stress children go through having to leave their home and then live in a new and unstable situation, not knowing what the future holds.

WFWP Jordan President Fusayo Irikura has made it her mission to help provide a safe and academic environment where refugee children can experience joy by offering creative and interactive activities like drama role play, music, sports, and social projects. With your help and support, the Arabic Literacy Project provides a safe space for these children.

WFWP has also recognized the international dilemma that education has not benefited all children equally, especially those with poor economic backgrounds and refugees. WFWP Jordan's Arabic Literacy Project helps youths from ages 8 to 15 who attend school but are falling behind. By teaching them reading comprehension and writing skills, the Arabic Literacy Project ensures children will gain the essential skills to excel in school and beyond. Classes are taught by a group of dedicated university students, who volunteer to tutor the students and provide positive character development.

Al-Zarqa, Jordan is a city industrious in its working style and modest in culture. The city houses approximately nine million refugees for whom the hope of resettlement has become a remote possibility. The refugee encampments are grindingly poor where daily survival is a struggle.

Of the nine million refugees in the city, 60% are children. These children have access to school but many are still unable to read or write in their local language due to poor facilities. Classrooms in the public schools have as many as 60 students, which makes learning and individualized attention difficult. The drop-out rate from these schools is also high. Many graduate still unable to read and write at the appropriate level.

HOPE FOR A BRIGHTER FUTURE

The hope for providing these children with a bright future has come through the “Arabic Literacy Program for Children” for students ages 8 to 15.

Students in the program learn how to read and write, which is essential for creating a more sustainable future of happiness and success. WFWP Jordan is running literacy classes at the WFWP and Community Development Centers (CDC) located in the refugee camps. The project aims to improve the levels of literacy among the children, and also to instill values in them which can help them overcome the psychological damage that comes from the unstable life of a refugee.

WFWP Jordan hopes to continue restoring the future of their children through a carefully designed program. At each center of WFWP and CDC, 30 students have been taken in who are taught a curriculum tailored to their learning capabilities. The program lasts a year long with a summer break in between.
