

WFP USA: Need $500 to provide education and confidence to refugee children

Dear,

You can make a difference in the lives of children!

With the success of running the Arabic Literacy Project for 5 years, children have a chance to improve their scholastic skills and experience joy through taking part in creative activities and service projects in a safe setting. As a result, WFP has seen dramatic changes in their behavior, seeing a decrease in fights and gradual increase in self-confidence.

WFP Jordan President Fusayo Irikura has made it her personal mission to organize the Arabic Literacy Project in Jordan, providing opportunities and experiences for refugee children (ages 8-15 years) to develop good character in a safe and loving environment. Mrs. Irikura, along with a group of dedicated university students, are making a tremendous positive impact on these children, giving them a path to realize their full potential. This is especially important during this year when the COVID pandemic is putting strain on education systems worldwide.

Al-Zarqa, Jordan is a city industrious in its working style and modest in culture. The city houses approximately nine million refugees for whom the hope of resettlement has become a remote possibility. The refugee encampments are grindingly poor where daily survival is a struggle.

Of the nine million refugees in the city, 60% are children. These children have access to school but many are still unable to read or write in their local language due to poor facilities. Classrooms in the public schools have as many as 60 students, which makes learning and individualized attention difficult. The drop-out rate from these schools is also high. Many graduate still unable to read and write at the appropriate level.

HOPE FOR A BRIGHTER FUTURE

The hope for providing these children with a bright future has come through the “Arabic Literacy Program for Children” for students ages 8 to 15.

Students in the program learn how to read and write, which is essential for creating a more sustainable future of happiness and success. WFWP Jordan is running literacy classes at the WFWP and Community Development Centers (CDC) located in the refugee camps. The project aims to improve the levels of literacy among the children, and also to instill values in them which can help them overcome the psychological damage that comes from the unstable life of a refugee.

WFWP Jordan hopes to continue restoring the future of their children through a carefully designed program. At each center of WFWP and CDC, 30 students have been taken in who are taught a curriculum tailored to their learning capabilities. The program lasts a year long with a summer break in between.

In order to continue their work of educating these children, they need your help!

Please donate today so that WFWP is able to pay its teachers, recruit volunteers, and assemble educational materials necessary for creating a safe and loving learning environment. The transformation in the children as they are able to improve their academic abilities while also being emotionally and morally supported is invaluable.

Help us set new standards of humanity, care, and dignity for these children.
