Dear Women and Mothers of Peace,

Happy September!

We look forward to our upcoming Interfaith Women's Prayer Circle this coming Saturday, September 11, 2021 at 1 pm EDT, which is a most meaningful date for America!

As we remember the tragedy on that day, we realized that America needs healing and peace within, and the input and guidance from our Creator to bring about a turning point for the better as America.

We appreciate you taking the time and a moment this coming Saturday to uniting in heart and prayer as women, sisters and mothers to pray for peace and healing for our nation. Our offerings will give an abundance of opportunities for healing to take place within and all around us.

As we mentioned in the previous email, we are adding one more feature to the program: a brief testimony from anyone who would like to share for two minutes as to "HOW YOU OVERCAME A CHALLENGE THIS WEEK."

Please, read the quote below, and be ready to share your insights and reflections as well as share this invitation with other women and mothers of prayer!

Looking forward to hearing you on the call!

With love and gratitude,
Angelika Selle and Sahara Cardenas

Mother of Peace: A Memoir

By Dr. Hak Ja Han Moon, page 257

"Evil is acting for selfish gain, whereas goodness is to serve others and let go of the memory of having done so. When we give and forget, true love flourishes. We do not run out of love by giving it away. Quite the opposite: True love is a spring that flows in ever greater abundance. When walking the path of love, even when you give something precious, you feel that you did not give enough. Living with true love does not make one prideful; if anything, one feels sorry for not being able to give something even better.

The fallen world programs us to think that when we give something away, it is gone. In true love, however, the more we give, the more we receive. When our mindset changes from wishing to receive love, to wishing to give love, the world of peace will be at hand."
