Dear,

You are invited to an event on Wednesday, May 25 at 11 AM EDT entitled,
"The Work of Faith-Based Organizations at the United Nations: A Conversation with Ryan Koch of LDS Charities"

Ryan Koch serves as the representative of Latter Day Saints Charities at the United Nations, in both New York and Geneva. He serves as Director of International and Public Affairs for LDS Charities, the humanitarian unit of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. Mr. Koch has worked in the UN context for more than a decade. Mr. Koch also serves as Chair of the NGO Committee on the Family. The discussion with Mr. Koch will provide an opportunity to learn more, not only about the work of LDS Charities as an NGO in consultative status with the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations, but also about the way in which many NGOs and, particularly, faith-based NGOs function in the UN context.

Why do religious NGOs work at the UN? What are their goals and objectives? Their priorities? Are they having impact?
