Reflections from Graduates

"The DMin. program at HJI was like a treasure map for changing my destiny. The courses challenged us to reflection and understand the deep nature of God through the professors' and students' theological expertise and life experience. The classes were highly spiritual and deeply touching."

- Sunae Moon (2010); Pure Love Professor, Sun Moon University

"The DMin. program was intensely stimulating and spiritually reviving. During our time together on campus, I often felt the presence of almighty God. The program provided me with a firm foundation for the many leadership responsibilities I've taken on in the last decade. I'm grateful for the investment of all the HJI faculty and staff, especially my advisor who pushed me hard to finish on time, and for the patient support of my family and the encouragement of my peers."

- Michael Balcomb (2009); Regional Chair of Europe & Middle East, Family Federation

"Going through the DMin. program was one of the greatest times of my life. The program helped me establish and strengthen my philosophy of ministry through studying, practicing, teaching, and completing my dissertation project. HJI will stand by your side as you accomplish your goals, making it possible to complete the program successfully and in a timely manner!"

- MoonshikKim (2013); Regional Chair of Canada, Family Federation

Student Testimonial

Sancha Ogden
MA Peace Studies Student

Studying Peace Studies at HJI has been a transformative experience for me. Through this program, I've gained a deep understanding of the root causes of conflict and violence and practical tools and strategies for promoting peace and resolving disputes. The interdisciplinary nature of the program allows me to explore diverse perspectives and develop critical thinking skills. I started the program not knowing so much about the nature of Peace Studies and have seen that it is a key academic study promoting the efforts of peace and transformation in multiple disciplines. The supportive faculty and engaging coursework have nurtured my passion for peacebuilding. I highly recommend HJI's Peace Studies program to those seeking to positively impact the world and create a more peaceful future.

MASTER OF ARTS IN RELIGIOUS STUDIES

Program Overview

The MA in Religious Studies is an advanced degree that provides students with an understanding of the Judeo-Christian and Unification tradition as well as theological and practical insights into the major world religions and their impact on today's society. It is an ideal degree for those students wishing to pursue either doctoral studies or further study in a specific field of theological inquiry.

Career Focus

Church leadership, non-profit leadership, educator in religion or liberal arts, missionary, pathway to doctoral studies.

Program Objectives

This is a broad-based degree program for students seeking to gain extensive knowledge of the Christian tradition and its impact on society, supplemented by wide-ranging knowledge of the world's religions. It enables students to integrate their own faith with in-depth knowledge of the broader Judeo-Christian tradition and its manifestations in contemporary society and culture. Students will become more effective witnesses for their faith in today's multi-religious environment and prepared to practice in a wide variety of ministries, as well as in non-governmental bodies dealing with key religious issues often at the root of conflict.

Fully Online

A 42-credit graduate degree program that is available fully online. By taking two courses each term and during the summer, students can complete the program in two and a half years. Students choosing to enroll only part-time will require an extended time frame to graduate.

Student Testimonial

Mark Lincoln
MA in Religious
Studies Student

My experience in the Religious Studies program at HJI has helped me to gain a deeper understanding of the Judeo-Christian foundation of western culture and its strengths and weaknesses, to appreciate the depth of the Divine Principle, and it exposed me to practical applications of the Principle in peacebuilding and conflict resolution. My professors were excellent, challenging and attentive to student needs, and bringing a personal touch to online classes. With students from across the globe, a wide array of fascinating viewpoints were shared.

HJI Mission Statement

HJ International Graduate School for Peace and Public Leadership provides advanced academic and professional education for current and future leaders of the Unification community and all faiths, that seeks to enhance their relationship with God, their effectiveness in ministry, public leadership, and interfaith peacebuilding. - MIN 5804A & MIN 5804B Masters Colloquium (0 credit)
- Any one course cannot satisfy both a Master of Arts in Religious Studies foundation requirement and the concentration requirement.

The M.A. in Religious Studies offers students a choice of four concentrations that address life in today's intercultural and interreligious global community:

- Interfaith Peacebuilding
 - Prepares students for professional roles in religious organizations, NGOs and the public sector, including:
 - Ministries of peace and justice
 - Ecumenical and interfaith ministries
 - Education and teaching
 - Peacebuilding ministries, public service at the interface of religion and public policy
 - Consulting to facilitate conflict resolution and cross-cultural understanding
- Public and Non-Profit Leadership
 - Prepares students for professional competencies in faith-based and public non-profit sectors:
 - Public leadership
 - Governance
 - Conflict analysis and resolution
 - Financial management
 - Human resource development
- Unification Studies
 - In-depth understanding of the theology, philosophy, guiding principles and history of the Unification Movement. Prepares students for roles in church leadership, education, public relations, and ecumenical and interfaith ministries.
- Theological Studies
 - Students receive a more in-depth look at the Bible, Christian Theology, Church History and Living Traditions. This concentration prepares graduates for doctoral studies or further studies in Christianity, as well as roles in education and teaching in the Christian church and for ecumenical and interfaith ministries.

Students who do not select a concentration may use elective courses to prepare for specific vocations such as counseling, education, church leadership, or those calling for specialization in a particular religious tradition.
