For peace, you can create; for peace, you can fight; for peace, you may pray; for peace, you dance; for peace, you may wonder.

On Sunday, from the Triangle of Borders in Jaworzynka, a group of more than forty people of different ages from seven nations set off for a week-long hike on the mountains and off-roads of Poland and Slovakia, connecting with the international Peace Road initiative.

It was interesting to participate in the first day of the expedition.

Conversations on the trail and matters of plain and deep emotion when young people helped themselves carry their backpacks, sharing levels, and waiting for those at the end.

Liters of sweat in thirty-degree heat, beautiful views, peace, and a wish to share this peace with the world.

To the whole team that set off today, I wish perseverance and beautiful experiences.
