

Human Rights Rally

STOP Religious Kidnapping in Japan

- Religious Kidnapping: Japan's hidden shame
- Stop abduction and violence against women
- Religious freedom is for everybody
- Kidnapping breaks up families
- Let me go home!

Tuesday,
March, 22
2011 - 11am

Lafayette Park,
Washington D.C.

Join together with women, mothers, daughters, families, national and local activists, local victims and their families to stand up and lend your voice to victims of kidnapping, violence and religious persecution in Japan and the United States.

*In religious kidnapping a person is forcibly abducted, confined against their will, and subjected to intense, sometimes violent pressure to renounce his or her faith

Women's Federation for World Peace

For more information contact us at events@wfwf.us, or visit us on the web at www.wfwf.us