Lady Liberty to 'I Have a Dream'

Here's a recap of Peace Road's stops this week.

The Peace Road team has been extremely busy on the Peace Road 2020: Reconciling All People national tour—traveling through seven states in less than a week! From the East Coast to the Deep South, their schedule has been jam-packed August 1 to 5 as they join local clergy and public officials bringing prayers of peace and reconciliation to numerous historical sites. Here's a snippet from each stop.

Let Freedom Ring

“The Statue of Liberty is one of the greatest things America has to offer as a symbol of freedom and enlightenment,” said Pastor Naokimi Ushiroda, assistant pastor of Clifton Family Church. “It’s not just freedom for a certain kind of people, but all people.”

City of Brotherly Love

“The message of this Liberty Bell is that although we are cracked, we are still united; we are not broken apart, we are not torn apart,” said Dr. Luonne Rouse, national co-chairman of ACLC.

The First State

“This is a 400-year providence and we are rededicating America back to God...recognizing those peacemakers of the past and present, including Harriet Tubman and Thomas Garrett,” said FFWPU–USA New England District Pastor Mika Deshotel.

The U.S. Capital

“We want to repent and forgive to heal ourselves and this nation,” said WFWP USA President Angelika Selle in front of the Lincoln Memorial. “Our problems cannot be solved by the logic of power, but by the logic of love.”

The Deep South

“Charleston represents people going through and overcoming unthinkable things,” said Dr. Rouse. “Through what True Parents have been teaching and modeling, we can become the generation of reconciliation and peace.”

I Have A Dream

“We know God has been working on America to reconcile all people...Racism is still very much a real issue today. But through prayer, forgiveness, and love, and serving one another, we can overcome these issues to be united as one,” said Georgia State Senator Donzella James.
