Hello family. True Mother's words on the mission of the chosen people. UPF webinar is open to all. Ocean challenge gets an upgrade. And the latest from Korea.

What is the Mission of the Chosen People?

Mother's Message at the 8th Anniversary of True Father's Holy Ascension

September 4, 2020—Respected leaders in all fields joining from around the world! Faith leaders, clan leaders, blessed families! It is nice to see you!

Although we have longed for a world in which we can be completely interconnected and united, this unprecedented coronavirus pandemic has blocked the path to realizing that. Furthermore, the unprecedentedly abnormal climate, the heavy rain and typhoons we have been experiencing have resulted in the displacement and death of many people, as well as property damage, around the world. However, we who are within the Heavenly Parent's Holy Community are accumulating the strength to overcome all this and advance together into the future under Heavenly Parent's protection. This is something to feel grateful for.

Today, I would like to speak to you on the topic, "What is the mission of the chosen people?"

God, our Creator, is the parent of humankind. Do you think that the Creator, in the position of our Parent, would just sit there and observe the present situation of humankind suffering today?

It was the dream of God, our Creator, to establish the Kingdom of Heaven on earth with all people, to live with them, and after they concluded their earthly lives, to stay with all His children forever in the eternal world.

UPF International Leadership Webinar for the Americas

Dear Family,

This weekend we have an exciting opportunity to join the Universal Peace Federation's International Leadership Conference. Usually, only a select few get to travel to Korea and experience these deliberations and discussions by world leaders. But thanks to our special circumstances, we're going online, and this time, everyone is invited! From Friday, September 11, through part of Sunday, September 13, UPF is hosting a series of webinars. Leaders in every sector from North, Central, South America and the Caribbean will gather online to build bridges of peace.

Be part of the discussion around some of the most compelling topics of our time. Don't worry, you don't have to sign up for every single session, but there is something there for everyone! The role of media in today's social climate, international business opportunities, interfaith relations, the necessity of women's leadership in perilous times, and much more. Oh, and it's all free. Choose a couple sessions from the menu here: www.upf.org/ilc2020-americas

Did I mention that this is a great opportunity to invite your guests? You know, those friends to whom you've been trying to explain what we do to build peace around the world! See the attached invitation letter and the complete schedule of speakers. Spread the news, we hope to see you there.

God Bless you,

Unificationists Build New Boat Workshop in Alaska

A new workshop and boat storage space in Alaska is now complete after weeks of hard work by a small group of volunteers. Kodiak Ocean Tribe, the Unificationist community in Kodiak, Alaska, built a hulking steel structure from the ground up to house its boats and seafaring materials from the National Ocean Challenge Program (NOCP).

“I came up from Seattle and spent the past several weeks working with our crew here,” said project lead Scott Dolfay, who masterminded the build in mid July. “The construction of the 40-by-60-foot prefab steel structure will be both workshop and storage space for the National Ocean Challenge Program's six boats.”

The National Ocean Challenge Program, which was first initiated in July 1981 by the late Rev. Dr. Sun Myung Moon, and has been held every summer in Kodiak since 2007. The popular program offers participants ages 16 to 30 a unique hands-on fishing experience, guiding them in both theoretical and practical aspects of boating and fishing in the remote region.
