Unification Church Funds Flowed to Democratic Party Too, Per Indicted Ex-Leader's Testimony

Yoon Young-ho, detained former Unification Church global director

80 million won ($60,000) in cash and gifts to two Democratic Party lawmakers during the 2017-2021 Moon Jae-in era

Yet, the special probe—focused on Yoon's circle—hasn't deeply pursued Democratic leads, raising questions of bias.

Yoon Young-ho, detained former Unification Church global director, admitted delivering 80 million won ($60,000) in cash and gifts to two Democratic Party lawmakers during the 2017-2021 Moon Jae-in era—when the church claims it was "closer" to Democrats than the now-ruling People Power Party (PPP). This directly contradicts the opposition's narrative branding President Yoon Suk-yeol's administration as a "Unification Church puppet." Yoon testified in a special prosecution interview: A current Yeongnam-region Democratic heavyweight received 40M won cash + 10M won luxury watch (2018-19); a former lawmaker got 30M won (2020). Both allegedly visited Cheonjeonggung holy site, met church leader Han Hak-ja, then accepted items.
