

2nd Pathways to a Sustainable Future: Day 13

Minoru Nakata
July 16, 2016

We woke up this morning feeling the cold on the boat. None of us went outside much because of the cold and overcast in the morning. We stayed in our rooms playing card games, Avalon, sleeping and just hanging out talking with one another. There would be 10 people all crammed in one small room playing cards. It was a lot of fun and definitely an experience to remember. At around 12:30pm we arrived in Vallemi where we ate a delicious meal of pizza by the Pantanal River before going on the bus to head back to Asuncion. The drive back was a long 9 hour drive. Some slept, others talked, listened to music or played cards. After stopping for an empanada dinner we played a few games of Avalon on the bus which we all got into and had a lot of fun! We arrived back at our hotel at around 10:30pm safely. It was a long day of traveling, but we finally made it! We survived the journey!

