About 18 ladies and five men gathered on the 8th March to celebrate Women's Intl. Day. It was a very successful afternoon. First to speak was a Lady is responsible for the running of the Community Centre where we were. and all the activities they hold there. Secondly, Mrs. Sujatha Thaladi who spoke about TMR who is the Chief Executive Officer for the Charity. Then I spoke (Mrs. Ruby Flavell) about WFWP aims and activities and about famous courageous women in History, and how Women's Intl. Day started. A few women got inspired and wanted to speak about what they do for charity, which they did. One lady brought here ship that she made resembling the ship that brought African people to Britain in (I beleive) 1930's. It was about 4 ft long and took two people to carry it in the hall.

I sang "Last Night I Had The Strangest Dream" and read one of my poems, called "More Than A Dream" Then we all enjoyed a beautiful buffet meal. Food brought by everyone which was very cultural. And much socializing.

A few women showed much interest in WFWP and said they wanted to join so I gave them the membership forms to fill in at there convenience.

One lady came a bit late with her daughter and she sang an Indian song.

Coming to the end, a few ladies asked me to sing the song again that I sang earlier and said they liked the words. Also one lady liked my poem and took a photo of it on here mobile phone.

It was a very sociable and uplifting and successful afternoon!
