On November 8, 2014, Rev. Ignace Wantete gave a one-day Divine Principle workshop to guests and friends at the Denver Ramada Hotel in Colorado. Throughout the day, Rev. Wantete covered all the different sections of the Divine Principle in French. The audience was very attentive as Rev. Wantete delivered powerful Divine Principle lectures.

“I learned a lot of things that I did not know, especially in the Second Advent and the Principles of Creation,” said guest Emmanuel Ndayishimiye. “It was a shock to hear that we are living in the time of the Second Advent. Things that I learned in the Principles of Creation are things that the Bible does not even explain. After the seminar, I felt blessed, smart and empowered, because the information Rev. Wantete provided was thorough and deep. He was energized and spoke with conviction and assurance.”

Several of the participants, who were Christian ministers, were really moved by the new insights on the Bible that the Divine Principle brings out.

“The hidden Bible truth that was explained and revealed to me by Rev. Wantete was very touching, full of facts and an eye opener,” said Prisca Mbuyi. “I saw a picture of some biblical events coming together with the full teachings I got on God’s purpose of creation, the fall, and living in the end times, that the second coming of Christ has already happened and we are living in that time. I was blessed by the seminar.”

At the conclusion of the lectures, some participants had very deep questions, showing that they really were present and engaged throughout the seminar.

“Even though I don’t know very well the Bible, I believe that Rev. Ignace Wantete has demonstrated a very good knowledge of the Bible and has mastered the art of preaching to an audience,” described Paul Manga. “I have learned a lot that day. And I was convinced that I have to continue to attend his future seminars and teaching anytime I have the opportunity. Even if I haven’t joined yet to the ministry he belongs to, his presentations left a big impression on me.”

The accessibility of the Divine Principle in any language and culture makes it so powerful and easy to learn. The French-speaking Unificationist community in Colorado is inspired to conduct more of these workshops in the future
