Dear Friends,

I believe that music can be an enormously powerful tool for change. Music today has changed the way people think and behave. Maestro David Eaton of the New York City Symphony Orchestra mentioned in a speech he gave in February 2000 at the International Conference on the Unity of the Sciences in Seoul Korea, "Any philosophy or rationale that rejects the premise that art and music need not be concerned with a moral and ethical dimension, contributes to the continual demise and social debasement of the human condition". This is true. We see how music and lyrics have influenced our societies today in many provoking ways.

Today I am asking for your support to produce an incredibly special piece of music that speaks to the heart and soul of our great nation, the United States of America. The song 'This Blessed Land' was written and composed by maestro David Eaton. The lyrics speak to the yearning passion to save our beloved land from losing its founding values. This song has meaningful soul-searching lyrics such as, 'We could end all the hate if we wanted to'. We have always been a nation that catered to the needs of others. Reaching out to help where injustice rises its ugly head, where fear roams freely and where the children cry in the dark. Living for the sake of others is part of the fabric of our great nation. However, this seems to be fraying at the seams. The message in this song speaks to the soul, to the consciousness of humanity. I invite you to be a part of spreading positive change through music by supporting this effort. Become a co-producer in a small way and be noted as such. Your support is very much appreciated.
