True Father's Last Speech to 2nd Gen. before Hospitalization

You are young teenagers. How many people like you are there in this world? Who will raise these children? Who will teach them? In this world of Satan...

When I look at you, I want to live with you, become a youth again. I was on fire and crazy for the providence. I want to show you even if just for a short time the Han [sorrow] for the age that was lost. Please don't forget about that. Boys and girls who have come from Japan! Because you are living in this precious age, you need try even harder than me not to lose this age.

The other adults and I lost it. Now I don't have it. There is nothing. When you look at it from my point of view...

From now on, you growing teenagers should uphold yourselves and complete your mission, representing God. I'm sad that the responsibilities of this mission need to pass on to you. I want you to understand my position of having to say goodbye to this place with this heart.

[Song]

I'll become the light that will never go out and will remain in the next world.
