After True Mother read the official speech, True Father spoke to the participants for more than three hours, educating with true love. He asked the participants, who were sitting at round banquet-style tables, to pick up their chairs and come forward and huddle at the front of the room. Father spoke at the side of the front podium instead of at its center. He asked for a staff member to bring the folder containing the official speech for the Cosmic Assembly to Proclaim the Words of Substance at the Settlement of the True Parents of Heaven, Earth and Humankind. Quoting the official speech, True Father told the financial leaders that we are living at a time of an historical revolution of the entire cosmos. He stressed that world peace must be secured during this time through all of humankind coming into oneness with True Parents. “Humankind must now humbly submit before heaven’s commands... The time of destiny has come, when we must go all out and make a life-or-death determination, following the teachings of true love,” he said. It was an important three hours, during which time True Father emphasized to the executives the urgency of heaven’s current providence.
