

This Week in History for October 29

Seog Byung Kim
October 25, 2016

Opening of the Beomil Museum (October 29, 1978, Beomil-dong, Busan, Korea)

On October 29, 1978, at the place where the Busan Beomnetgol cardboard board hut used to be True Parents cut the tape at the entrance, thus opening the Beomil Museum. 300 Korean and foreign church leaders and staff attended. True Father said, “When you connect a rock or some dirt that has nothing special about it with Heaven, it becomes valuable. Similarly, when you know God’s will and work for that will, you attain heavenly value.” True Father came down from Pyongyang and built a cardboard hut in Beomnetgol, Busan, the place where he wrote Wollli Wonbon [The Original Divine Principle] and started to witness. Members who wish to experience True Parents’ heart continue to visit this place today. (Materials provided by the FFWPU History Compilation Committee)

