I hope that parents and Sunday School teachers who use this book Words to Live By will read and explain the lessons to the children, and encourage them to express their feelings and opinions. Through this early training in faith, they will develop their original minds and learn to keep their minds and bodies pure.

Dear Children! The most precious thing in the world is our True Parents. We are growing in the love of our True Parents. In the future I am sure you will want to receive still more love from True Parents, won't you? So please study True Parents' words sincerely, with your parents and Sunday school teachers. Abel is in the center, kneeling and offering a basket of produce, including carrots and potatoes, to a large, glowing golden altar. To the right, a white sheep is being sacrificed on a stone altar, with a bright, golden light emanating from it. The background shows a green landscape with rolling hills and a bright sun in a blue sky. The text is overlaid on the scene, explaining that God asked them to offer sacrifices with one heart, but they were unable to unite, leading to conflict.

His hands are raised in a gesture of awe or prayer. In the background, a large, light-colored animal, possibly a bull or sheep, lies on a pile of sticks. A white dove is perched on the animal's back, and a dark bird of prey is perched on the dove's back, ready to attack. The scene is set against a purple and green background, suggesting a sunset or sunrise over a field.

God told Abraham to offer different kinds of animals as a sacrifice, and to cut each one into two halves. So Abraham cut the bigger animals in two, and offered them to God. But he did not cut the doves. Then birds of prey came down wanting to eat the doves. God did not accept Abraham's offering.

One rider is a woman in a pink headscarf and robe. There are also several white sheep. The background shows rolling hills under a sky with a gradient of orange and red.

Esau tried to kill Jacob after he lost his blessing to his younger brother.

Jacob prayed for his brother with love, and gave him everything he had.

Esau forgave Jacob, and received God's blessing together with Jacob.

God and from my parents.

45. God's children live for their family

Parents live for their children.
