The 2001 Service for Peace Tour has come to a victorious conclusion in our homeland of Korea. With the participation of 15,000 young Koreans, more than 90,000 youths have now witnessed World CARP President Hyun Jin Moon's passionate appeal to live for the sake of others through the rallies, as well as many others on the internet and through video.

The Korean tour also included an extensive public speaking and visitation schedule, and this writer was assigned to keep a journal.

The day after his arrival in Korea, before starting any of his rallies and public speeches, Hyun Jin Nim went to visit the Suh Dae Moon prison site, where his father Rev. Sun Myung Moon had been imprisoned in his youth. In the long years of Japanese occupation, many such prison sites were used to imprison, torture and kill Korean patriots fighting for the liberation of their Fatherland. Ironically the Suh Dae Moon site is the only one that remains.

We saw historical videos and exhibitions, depicting the incredible sacrifice the Koreans endured to establish the condition to be the people to receive the Messiah. Great patriots such as 16-year old Yoo Kwang Soon, were tortured and killed here for the sake of their nation and its liberation. We also saw the cell rumored to have held Rev. Moon during his imprisonment, awaiting his day of liberation while carrying the pain of Heavenly Father.

Join the Band, Serve the World!

Sam Nagasaka

Have you ever wanted to join a band, travel the world and be an international cultural ambassador? You have? Here is a truly awesome opportunity!

The World CARP culture department is producing an international and inter-racial female entertainment group, "The Girl Band" to act as Service for Peace ambassadors. They will be creating a new culture of heart initiated by the message of Service for Peace.

The plan is for the band to train and practice during 2002, and to be ready for the Service For Peace World Tour in 2003. The band will then travel with Hyun Jin Nim throughout the world and perform in the program at each rally before audiences from 10,000 to 50,000 people!

We are presently scouting for candidates and there will be auditions open for qualified candidates from all chapters. We're looking for Hyun Jin Nim, a keen historian, maintained a solemn composure throughout the visit, understanding the sacrifice the Korean people went through to become the chosen nation, yet also knowing that the failure of the people to accept the Second Advent forced True Father to walk the path of suffering and imprisonment. Still, we recognized the power of a people to move the nation by their conviction, their dedication, and their willingness to sacrifice. This is the legacy of the freedom fighters in Korea, and a hope that we must rekindle among the Korean people.

Visiting Churches and CARP Centers

After visiting the prison, we went on to the local church. The room was packed with members, attentive elders to families with young Blessed Children. The excited church looked to Hyun Jin Nim as the leader in the age of the Second Generation, as he poured out his love and desire to be one with the members. To the many elders, he emphasized the original desire of God to see a family, to be a grandfather and enjoy his grandchildren. It is only within the family that all loves are fulfilled, and all generations are connected representing the continuum of humanity. He testified deeply about his father, and his desire to have us be close to him with a natural unreserved relationship.

Later we visited the Shin Chon CARP Center. Shin Chon is Korea's central college area, in the middle of several universities including the historical Ewha Women's University and Yonsei University, one of Korea's top schools. The first rally in Korea would be held here with the goal of focusing on college students as a force of young people dedicated to Service for Peace, and revolutionizing youth culture by centering on the creation of God-centered families and the concept of living for the sake of others.

Our Identity Comes from Our Relationships

To the crowd of young faces, Hyun Jin Nim again expressed his desire to be close as family with us, conveying his heart as an elder brother to younger brothers and sisters, an elder wanting nothing but the best and wanting his younger siblings succeed. "Our identity does not come from ourselves," he said "but through relationships with people. Furthermore, that identity is not one we can choose. We do not choose our brothers and sisters, our parents, nor whether we are born male or female. We are born with a destiny, especially the second generation youth who have inherited the Blessing given to our mothers and fathers by God and True Parents."

He also spoke of the need to rid ourselves of the concept of receiving things for free. Instead we need to take responsibility and develop ourselves, our abilities and skills. The CARP motto calls for all of us to become Number One. Rather than creating an elitist organization, becoming Number One means each individual taking on the daily challenge of personal excellence. It is a challenge for everyone to try and keep trying to strive for that goal, but this is how we can become owners of God's providence and leaders embodying confidence through living for the sake of others.

Chung Nam Rally

Perhaps because this was 100% a student rally, the energy was extremely high and the students very ready for a revolution. Hyun Jin Nim's keynote speech rang with a clear warning. We must change the direction the youth are heading toward today in our self-centered, individualistic, humanistic, and secularly materialistic culture. Selfishness has contaminated society and we are walking a dangerous path toward self-destruction of the family, society, nation, and eventually the world. This is why we must plant a new paradigm among the youth: living for the sake of others through Service for Peace.

The foundation for this new way of life is through the creation of God-centered ideal families, the first school of love where one learns the lessons of living for the sake of others. On that foundation we open the path to the creation of a peaceful family, a peaceful community, a peaceful society, nation, world, and ultimately liberating God.

Above: Scenes from the Service for Peace Rallies in Korea

“If we work together with a common vision, there’s nothing we cannot do! Do you believe it?” Hyun Jin Nim declared, “I wish all of Korea could see this Chung Nam Rally and see the conviction and the fire of these young people. They will truly will that there is nothing that we cannot accomplish”

A Visit to Sun Moon University

Sun Moon University was established by Rev. Sun Myung Moon with the goal of revolutionizing academia. It has pioneered new research institutes including the Purity Department and a Martial Arts Department. Sun Moon trains many of the future leaders of the movement, and is a crucial link in our youth movement.

The University began in 1985 as a theological seminary. It soon expanded into the Sung Hwa University, opening the first three colleges in 1991. It was renamed Sun Moon University in 1994. The university is divided into two campuses: the Asan campus which houses the academic colleges of Sun Moon University, and the Chonan campus of the theological school and the Korean Language Institute.

Asan CARP Center was the first CARP center of Sun Moon University. At the time it was built, the center was considered to be quite large. However, CARP has now outgrown the center with potential for even more development in the near future. When Hyun Jin Nim visited the Asan center, he firmly encouraged the expansion of the building and told SMU CARP “You will be the driving force for Service for Peace here in Korea!”

After being greeted by the president of the school, Dr. Kyung June Lee, and receiving reports on projects and upcoming programs, Hyun Jin Nim wanted to see student life. He visited the invention incubators, the student center, the many construction sites. Throughout his time on Asan campus he encouraged CARP members, emphasizing the need for Sun Moon University, as Rev. Moon’s school, to be at the forefront of not only training our future leaders, bringing more and more young people into the movement, but for leading the nation in service.

Academic learning is very important, of course, but student life, especially through involvement with student activities is essential in providing students with experienced-based learning to nurture the heart. Unity in power among teachers, administrators, and students is key in making this campus powerful. Currently Sun Moon University is ranked 3rd in Korea in two areas: most international students and most service-oriented

He asked the students, “Can you become believable people? You need to become people Heaven can trust. You need to become people God, True Parents, and True Family can trust. You need to become owners. The path toward achieving this is the path of living for the sake of others. It is a difficult course, often lonely. However, when you walk this path you are never alone because God, True Parents, and True Family are always there with you. This world is Satan’s world, he is its owner, he is its Lord. Therefore, God is in the opposite situation, in the lowest position. To find God we must go the difficult course.”

The Way of True Love

Throughout the Service for Peace tour, Hyun Jin Nim wrote mottos of encouragement for the members. Later, he said that these are for everyone. Here is a selection—

“Truth can only be found only through the practice of Living for the Sake of Others, for it is there where one knows it’s true value.”

Sun Moon University

“True Education begins in the heart, where the blossoms of true love could flourish with ever fragrant hope for all to cherish in harmonious unity.”

Sun Moon University, Chunan Campus

“Let us transcend all the barriers that divide men through the profound truth of living for the sake of others.”

Sun Moon University, Asan Campus

“The Way of a Blessed Child is to inherit the heavenly tradition of Living for the Sake of Others. This will be the path by which we will “liberate” God and True Parents!”

World Student Garden of Brothers and Sisters

“Opening the Road to True Peace is the course of True Love, a tradition set through the countless tears and sweat of those who strove to “Live for the Sake of Others”

Shin Chon Student Center

At the World Student Garden

Rev. Sun Myung Moon has often stressed the importance of understanding the language and culture of Korea. He has always encouraged us to inherit the vertical standard and culture of heart directly through studying in the Fatherland. Hyun Jin Nim is reminding us of the fundamental importance of this message.

Every year exchange students come here from all over the world to study Korean language and Korean culture. While they are here, they stay the World Student Garden for Brothers and Sisters dormitory in Seoul. The curriculum is divided into both a Japanese program and a Western program. Residents include first year students studying at the Institute of Korean Studies for Foreign Students, and middle and high school students who are attending a variety of local schools including the Sun Hwa Arts School, which houses the world famous youth cultural performance troupe, the Little Angels.

Not only are they immersed in the Korean society, they are also surrounded by Blessed Children in a dormitory that upholds standards and nurtures the Second Generation as they seek their identity and find their relationship with God, True Parents, and True Family.

The World Student Garden is the only program designed for Blessed Children seeking to study the language and culture of Korea. After hearing reports about the program, Hyun Jin Nim's first question was about expansion and making the program available to more Blessed Children. He looked over texts and listened to ideas being discussed about possible avenues of expansion.

Hyun Jin Nim discussed not only the identity of Blessed Children but also emphasized the role and responsibilities that come with being born as Blessed Children. The identity of a Blessed Child is connected to the Blessing and with Blessing comes responsibility. It is an inescapable fate.

“It is our destiny
to rise
beyond nations,
beyond race,
beyond ethnic and religious differences and to create
one human family, one universal brotherhood”

Hyun Jin Moon

“God originally wanted an ideal family, not the fragmented world we see today. God wanted to create one family under God. You as Second Generation stand in the position of Abel in relation to the outside world. Abel's responsibility is directly connected to Cain. The course of Second Generation is living for the sake of others, whether you know it or not. Abel received the Blessing to save Cain, but because he did not understand this both of them failed.”

God invested 100%, 200% in the Second Generation, Hyun Jin Nim said, “We need to walk the same path as our True Parents. Individualism is the path of destruction. We must invest everything and live for the sake of others. If we live this way, God can work through us. Heartistically we will be different. Let us walk together the course of living for the sake of others. Then we will at last accomplish the course of God, and establish the eternal Kingdom of Heaven.”

Suwon Rally

Over 12,000 youth and families packed Suwon Gymnasium for the final rally. The program opened with a video, followed by a series of speakers. When Hyun Jin Nim entered, the previously reserved crowd burst into cheers and waved flags and banners enthusiastically.

Light Show and Indoor Fireworks conclude the Suwon Rally

Through the speech the energy level increased as Hyun Jin Nim explained that the original ideal God had when establishing the blueprint for the first family is now within reach for all of us today, if we will but embrace it.

“Today's youth are walking on a dangerous path towards destruction,” he said, “If they continue their self-centered individualistic, humanistic, and secularly materialistic lifestyles, they will only plant the seeds for individual destruction which only leads to the destruction of their family, community, society, nation and the world.

We will recover the lost and confused youth, heal broken and families and create an eternal peace through establishing a world of God-centered families. Centered on God, it is our destiny to we rise beyond nations, beyond race, and beyond ethnic and religious differences to create one human family, one universal brotherhood.”

With the successful conclusion of Service for Peace 2001, attention turns to the 2003 tour which will include more nations and more people than ever before. Let's work with Hyun Jin Nim to make a tremendous success!

President's Page: A Revolution of Heart

From a speech at Sun Moon University, Korea

We have to build a revolution of the heart, because if we want to change people we have to begin by changing their soul. At the core of the new paradigm of true leadership I am sharing is the message of living for the sake of others. As a leader, as a central person, you need to become someone whom God, True Parents, and True Family can trust. This trust comes with enormous grace and responsibility. You need to use the blessing of heaven to positively influence those around you, not for yourself. In other words, you need to become a True Abel. Abel was blessed not for his sake but for Cain's sake, and for the sake of saving his family.

True Father has been emphasizing how we have now entered a time when it is no longer enough to simply believe in him and follow his directions. After the coronation of God, we have the responsibility to directly represent God and True Parents. Therefore, we have to live for the sake of others as they do.

The idea of Service for Peace was built on the foundation of the Inheritance and Development Tour. We have entered the Age of Second Generation, the Settlement Age. We are building a

When God looks upon humanity, does he like all the different cultures, languages, nations, etc.? Does he like the fact that humans separate themselves because of the color of their skin? No. God wants to bring together the whole variety of children into one harmonious union as one family. This is the Kingdom of Heaven. And where does that Kingdom of Heaven begin? With ideal families. Blessed Families are the foundation on which the Kingdom of Heaven is built upon eternal, lasting relationships.

People say belief in God is ideal, but not pragmatic. But without recognizing God as the universal parent, how can we talk about brotherhood? There are many homeless people on the street. If you don't know the homeless people, would you stop? If it was your friend, you might stop. If it was your brother the question is no longer would you stop but when will you stop. The most are deep and enduring relationships are in the context of family.

We've entered an inflection point in human history. From here human history can branch out in many directions. Service for Peace can become a mass world wide movement. Who's going to get that ball rolling? CARP is a youth movement so we have power. If we create the conviction, we have power to move this nation. If we keep living for the sake of others, they will begin to change. We have power and we have the vision. Centered on the Second Generation youth we can change history!

“If we can create the conviction, you have power to move this nation. If we live for others, they will begin to change”

whole new world, yet the Second Generation don't understand their root. Inheritance means understanding the root of history, the beginning of the movement and God's framework and time line. Development explores the possibilities of the future.

We cannot be political people who have many different constituents to please and are bound to many masters. If you work for God's providence, you can only have one master. Did Moses and Noah of the Old Testament Age care about what others thought of them, or did they only think about God's providence? Adam and Eve were to be true sons and daughters of God. Were they? The Messiah is the true son of God. A True Son goes the path of fulfilling his father's will and God's will.

Character and Family Conference Shows Albania's Promise

Mark Bramwell

Albania again shows itself to be the nation of tremendous hope in Europe after an educational conference for 100 VIPs, entitled 'True Family Values for Social Development, Education and Public Service in Albania'.

FFWPU Europe President Sa Kwang Kee held this conference to fulfil a promise made to 24 Albanian leaders he took to Korea to introduce our movement. The preparation was conducted jointly by FFWPU, CARP and WFWP staff. In attendance were key leaders from Albanian society including religious leaders, top journalists, MPs, academics, the vice-rectors of two main universities, leaders of NGOs, and several student leaders. The main TV station covered the event and interviewed many of the participants.

Participants heard lectures on Principle-based character education from the book Educating Heart and Character, presented by Siegfried Klammsteiner, Mark Bramwell and Giuseppe Cali. A fourth presentation was President Sa's keynote lecture 'Blessing and True Family Movement'.

The feedback on the whole program was almost entirely positive. One notable comment came from a leader of a women's NGO that receives international contraception-based guidance. She now realizes it is all wrong, but wonders what to do, as she no longer feels she can convey it to youth.

A Meeting with the Vice-Minister of Education

The day after the conference, CARP leader Gani Rroshi and visited the Vice-Minister of Education. Unfortunately there has been a steady increase in co-habitation, drug-addiction and prostitution in Albania over the last few years. As the General Supervisor of Universities, the Minister feels it his duty to tackle these problems. He encouraged us to tour the universities and convey our teaching. He suggested we call a meeting with student leaders and professors in order to get their confirmation on the real problems of Albanian youth, and call upon them for their cooperation.

Fighting AIDS in Africa

Ezra Karimi, Kenya

The potential of World CARP in Africa is still not fully realized, but I still want to remind you of good and hard working members there. Kenya, for example, has been a long time participant in the Mr. Miss University Project and has an active campus community. Next month we welcome the World Unified Martial Arts Federation.

I envision the CARP Chapters in Africa coming together at an appropriate time to discuss one urgent and giant problem, the Youth and the AIDS disaster in Africa. Could World CARP plant its foot more firmly in Africa in an urgent 911-rescue mission, in this time of our need?

Africa leads in the slow but sure AIDS holocaust. This makes it therefore a prepared fertile ground for what I would call "Africa Purity Movement and Character Education."

A number of NGOs, some even smaller than World CARP, have already responded in some way or another to the AIDS crisis. However, in analyzing all of them, they don't have a strong conviction and belief in the value in purity, the blessing and family like World CARP. A fundamental change in attitudes and behavior is needed.

This move would also revive the many existing CARP chapters in Africa. I have faith in Africa not only to raise CARP membership a hundred fold but also to give hope to youth, couples and families in millions!

Witnessing in Moscow

Kazushi Mito, Russia

This summer we had successful witnessing activities in our continent. In Moscow, for example, we had a over 100 new CARP members who joined us this summer. Around the country, the total was were more than 600, our best for some years.

New members with Kazushi Mito and Dr. Joon Ho Seuk

Our new members also occasionally take part in marches and rallies for purity and family, which are encouraged by the Moscow City government. Our band, the Second Generation, grew out of these rallies in the last issue of World CARP News.

We will soon welcome a team from the United States who will join us for a first-hand taste of our witnessing activities.

Tong Il Moo Do Martial Arts in the Philippines

Prince Carmel Acosta

“Discover yourself and how far you can go,” is the inspiring motto of Tong Il MooDo, the Unified Martial Art. Over the years, the work of Philippine CARP has been greatly reinforced by the enthusiastic and dynamic activities and presentations of Tong Il Moo Do clubs on campuses nationwide. The clubs have attracted many new members, and many become leaders.

The Tong Il Moo Do training and traditions are very similar to our common national traditions, including respect and filial piety to the elders, and compassion to subordinates and younger brothers and sisters.

Last month we were very happy to welcome the founder of Tong Il Moo Do, Grand Master Dr. Joon Ho Seuk for an International Conference here which reignited the martial arts movement in our country gathered all Black belts in the Philippines.

With the organizational skills of Mr. Venus Agustin the 12-day training and conference was very successful. Participants came from the USA, Korea, Japan, Russia, Argentina, Kenya, Taiwan, Thailand and Philippines. On the final day, a belt promotion was conducted.

The following day, the whole conference conducted a demonstration at the Technological Institute of the Philippines. Over 800 spectators watched with avid interest, and after the demonstration, over 100 students signed up on the spot to join the Tong Il Moo Do club!

Continental directors Dr. & Mrs. Kim supported the conference and treated the participants to a visit to the hot springs and a delicious dinner at the end.

At the end of the conference, the participants promised to really reactivate again the Tong Il Moo Do in cooperation with World CARP to help restore our country by educating and reviving our youth.

The next workshop will be held in Kenya, Africa, from November 7th through the 20th. It is still possible to apply, by email to: wumaf\_moscow@mtu-net.ru. See you there!

Planting Trees and Seeds of Hope in Manila

Sam Nagasaka

Twelve Japanese YWFP members joined our Tree Planting project in the San Pablo province of Laguna. Mayor Florante Aquino welcomed the delegates, and School Administrator Dr. Norieta Tancio and local students supported the Japanese team.

We planted sturdy Gemelina trees along the highways. In spite of the strong sunlight and high humidity, we were so inspired that we managed to plant almost 400 trees together with the Manila CARP and YWFP members. Luntiung Pilipinas, a national charity donated the seedlings.

Later we visited the Asosacion De Damas Filipinas orphanage and offered gifts to almost 80 orphan children. Local CARP students organized games for the orphans, and the children responded by singing and dancing. Everyone embraced each other, wanting to see each other again.

Mongolia: A Dream on the Plains of Genghis Khan

Korea CARP

We were confident we could change Mongolia during the ten days we would be there doing volunteer services, but now that all the service projects are finished, the real changes are in our thinking and life style. In the end Mongolia has changed us.

Our first experience was of the smiling faces of Mongolia-CARP at the airport, and the bus that took us to our lodging, and I remember the cold breeze that made us embarrassed of the shorts we had worn. We met with the Mongolian members for just a short period before going to sleep, even before the sunset. The sun doesn't set until after 10 o'clock in Mongolia. It seemed as if we were taking a nap in broad daylight but because our service projects would begin tomorrow we had to rest.

Our first project was in a desert village on the outskirts of Ulanbator. We were helping create a free daycare, and our job was to lay the foundations. Physically it was difficult, and because we were doing repetitive work, we tired easily. But as we worked the beautiful Mongolian nature would make us forget our aches. The vast treeless grassland, the rolling mountains, the river and the herds of sheep we saw in the distance—it was as if we were in a drawing. The children laughing brightly with their dust-smeared faces were so beautiful. Indeed, it is for those children that we bent our backs in labor and dug the ground. With that thought, I grasped the shovel tighter.

On the 9th September we went to another area in town where garbage gathers due to wind and rain and bothers the residents..

As we were picking up trash there, the local radio station UBS came and we were covered on the 8 o'clock news.

From the 10th to the 13th we went to Baiangol, four hours by train and bus from the capital. Our project there was to fill a deep and wide pit in which animals fall and die when winter comes around. This pit was in the middle of a remote plain a little distant from Baiangol. There were no people around at all. In the distance we could see a solitary car drive by, just one black speck of dust in the white surroundings , and the only visual reminder we were in the 21st Century.

Unity under the Milky Way

On the last day the men continued to fill the pit, while the women went to paint a local school. Everyone truly worked hard, not even stopping to talk. We kept digging dirt and filling the land, with such a fruitful and light-hearted feeling—a feeling not that easy to come by in the course of daily life.

On our final night in Baiangol, we had a campfire. What began with a brilliant display of fireworks, eventually grew into a large fire as the Mongolian members lit the firewood with flaming arrows. We had a talent show team by team and under the cloudless Mongolian night sky we became one nation, one heart under the Milky Way. As the fire subsided, our feelings of longing intensified. The beautiful nature, the warm smile of the people. How can we ever forget Mongolia!

A Clinic for Lugari Village, Kenya

C.M. Nyamai

33 young volunteers have just completed the first stage in a project to provide a clinic for local villagers in the Lugari district of Kenya. International participants who came from Luxembourg, Uganda, Tanzania and Zambia. Local Kenyan youth participants came from various institutions such as universities, youth organizations and churches, including Catholics, Christian Protestants, African Inland Church, Muslim and Methodists. Similarly all the major and minor tribes in Kenya - Kikuyu, Kamba, Meru, Embu, Abaluya, Luo, Maasai, Kalenjin and Somali - were equally represented.

After orientation in Nairobi, the participants by bus to the project site at Lugari in western Kenya, making brief stops at the Great Rift Valley and at Lake Nakuru National Park, the world famous habitat for the pink flamingo.

Upon arrival in Lugari, the team was welcomed at the Han Dow secondary school, which sponsored accommodations thanks to the generosity of headmaster Mr. Joseph Mutiga. The next day, 1500 people gathered for the ground breaking ceremony, including the district commissioner, the area chief, and an officer from the Ministry of Health. IRFF International field director, Dr. Massimo Trombin laid the first foundation stone of the building.

The teams were assigned duties ranging from actual construction and gardening work on the project site to painting and renovation works in the school that was hosting the participants. Whatever their task, the participants worked with the spirit of a raging lioness!

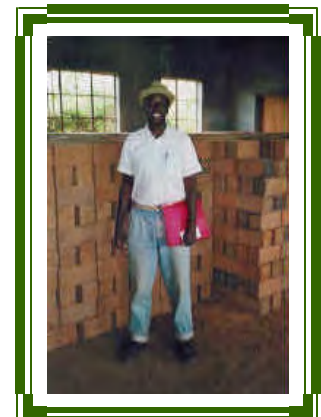

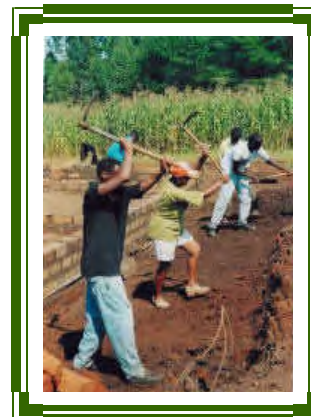

Despite their cultural, racial and gender diversity, everyone was able to mix amicably with the local community. The seeds of friendship that were sown during the clinic construction will definitely bear joyful fruits for years to come. For the participants it was also a self-realization experience of how true service and self sacrifice can bring a sense of belonging and meaning in their lives.

Remaining works on the Lugari Clinic Project

The remaining major works on the project site include—

- ◆ Complete the roofing structure of the clinic building
- ◆ Install the necessary windows and doors in the building.
- ◆ Plaster the outer wall and floors of the building
- ◆ Necessary paintings in the building
- ◆ Installation of the water borehole at the clinic site
- ◆ Solicit extra funds for the furnishing of the building with necessary furniture, medical equipments and drugs.

Rev. Sun Myung Moon — My God, My Country

Now is time to take responsibility for this country. Now is the time for this society to become the reflection of God's love. This is the time to bear the fruit. We can bring the whole world back to God by internally moving people in the way of love and faith. Now is the time to invite all religious leaders to come together and practice love for all religions and give them the blessing.

How many people understand this? Who feels that this is your country? This is not the Unification Church; it is my church. It is not our church—saying 'our' means you may think that someone else will take responsibility. You don't need God, the messiah, True Parents—you are the central person, the important one. I bequeathed everything to you based on the coronation ceremony. I wonder how much you understand this foundation and are serious to take care of this environment.

All the world's many problems can be solved by absolute faith, love and obedience I want you to always think in terms of my God, my country, my Will. Not our country, but my country.

You should unite with God and with True Parents in oneness. God's will is my will; God's nation is my nation. I want to be the best filial son and daughter. You should have this conviction. Saints and prophets could not make it and now it all connected with me. How seriously did you think about this? You are sons and daughters of True Parents. You must help each other and work with each other. Always ask yourself, who is the owner? This country is my country! God is my God!

You must have that kind of desperate heart. If you don't do well its because you are not yet truly living as a Blessed Central Family. I often wonder how many people you will develop to support God's providence. What is our motto? The Liberated Parents of Heaven and Earth and the children, united as one mind and body, fulfill the purpose of True Love. If you don't understand this way, don't expect God's Blessing.

End Notes

World CARP News Needs Help

Michael Balcomb, Editor

This is already the third issue of the World CARP News. As you know, this newsletter is intended for the inspiration and information of World CARP members. In response to your feedback from the previous issues, we are including more content from the World CARP President in this issue.

To remain (or become) relevant and useful, the News needs your help in several areas. Here's the deal—

Every main chapter must send at least one article each month. These articles could alternate between hard news about events and programs, and features about CARP life in your country. Articles can be from 200 to 800 words, and you must include one photograph for every 200 words.

About the photos: we prefer scanned photos, not hard copies. If you mail us photos, we might not be able to get them back to you. For scanning, choose not more than 150 dpi with an output size of no more than 5 inches by 3 inches and save it in JPEG format, high quality. Do not Zip JPEGs, it doesn't compress them any further.

All readers are also invited to submit essays, poems, drawings, graphics etc. And by the way, we could use help with layout and design for both printed and web versions.

New Chapter at Ohio State

Lina Kim

I'm a student and interested in starting a CARP chapter at the Ohio State University. To do this, I've been working closely with the pastor of the Ohio Family Church as well as with other OSU students. As the fall quarter commences, I wanted to take this opportunity to link with you.

Furthermore, I feel real empathy with those of you who are working on this project and would like to thank you for your effort. I am in the process of registering CARP as a formal student organization at OSU and am confident that it will grow to be a top-rate organization.

In addition, I am excited about the upcoming CARP events and hope to make the Ohio State University an integral part of those activities. Please add The Ohio State University CARP chapter to your list of national chapters. I will inform you as soon as possible on the progress of our work.

You can register your CARP chapter by sending an email to hq@worldcarp.org with the subject line "New Chapter." Please include all contact information, and a photo of your school and yourself if available!
