

United Temple Bulletin

P.O. Box 12202

Portland, Oregon 97212

Vol. 4 - Number VI

March 15, 1967

Our Master's Answers to the Questions

"Do Science and religion conflict in regard to the time lapse of the creation and the historical records?"

"There is conflict between historians and anthropologists or archeologists. I do not necessarily think that Adam lived 6,000 years ago. The time between Adam and Abraham is considered as the prehistoric age. At that time, according to the Bible, people lived 800 or 900 years. We don't know if they had the same kind of calendar we have today. Nine hundred years in their time might not be 900 years by our way of measuring time.

"As it says in the Bible, one day is like a thousand years and a thousand years as one day. Often things revealed by God are not literally true, but symbolical. The ten generations are not necessarily literal. God may choose one person out of 10 million to accomplish a certain mission. He will count that person as one generation. Adam was the first generation; Jesus was the second generation; and the Lord of the Second Coming is the third generation.

"There have been two forerunners before me in Korea. They were both elders in the Christian Church. Both did great work, but neither followed me. Spiritually gifted people sometimes received that Elder Nawa the first generation and Elder Pak was the second generation and the Lord of the Second Coming is the third generation. They are not related at all.

"Not all people who lived between the times of Adam and Noah are considered, but those selected people. Noah's account should be taken literally. God's providence or dispensation with Noah was carried on by that individual. Therefore, the events in his life time must be taken literally. Only the time element is not to be taken literally. The existence of Noah and of Adam as individual human beings is factual."

"What were Adam and Eve created from - animal like humans?"

"Have you ever wondered how a plant came into being? Where did the seed come from? In the small seed is every potential of the big tree. Likewise, in God's energy and power itself is all the potential of man.

"A baby is born through the strong love of its father and mother. God's strong love, His energy, created the baby Adam. Eve was not created out of Adam's rib, but was created after Adam and after Adam's pattern."

O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee

O Master, let me walk with thee
In lowly paths of service free;
Tell me thy secret; help me bear
The strain of toil, the fret of care.

Teach me thy patience; still with thee
In closer, dearer company,
In work that keeps faith sweet and strong,
In trust that triumphs over wrong;

In hope that sends a shining ray
Far down the future's broadening way;
In peace that only thou canst give,
With thee, O Master, let me live!

- Washington Gladden -

LSD - A Sacrament

Dr. Timothy Leary, a former lecturer on clinical psychology at Harvard University, now one of the high priests of the psychedelic movement said at a recent interview, "There's no question that LSD is a sacrament. It helps us find God."

Dr. Leary said that a movie on LSD and "trips" would soon be released commercially. This new cult is being communicated to thousands of people at very large meetings such as the "psychedelic celebration" held recently in San Francisco. This celebration drew between 1000 and 1200 people, mostly young people. They paid up to $4.50 for their seats.

At this meeting Dr. Leary urged his audience to "turn on, tune in, drop out", he said "You've got to detach yourself from everything that's meaningless in life." He urged the audience to not wait for a college degree or to pay off the mortgage. He attacked societies current social structures by saying "The menopause of mentality has lost touch with the power inside. The problem is going to be solved very quickly by the young people of today in 15 years." (Source: Oakland Tribune, January 29, 1967)

**Editor's Note: The above article is an extreme example of the confusion that is going on in the minds of our young people - not just in America but all over the world. It is a symptom of moral decay caused by a lack of faith in God and in man himself as a unique creation of God, created in God's image. Our Master has given us the tools with which to bring about the restoration of mankind, but if we do not prepare ourselves and use these tools to the greatest of our individual ability (not just what we think is our ability, but according to God's Will), we are failing God, Our Master, our nation, ourselves, and our descendants. Do you feel the price you have paid or are paying is too great? Have any of you paid even one-fourth the price Our Master has paid to find these tools for us? The editor hopes you will set aside your individual problems and heartache long enough to really Think about what this article means and the questions she has put forth above!

Bring to It the Rainbow

The "rainbow" is the glow that crowns an all-out effort to do a job no matter what that job may be, as well as you can possibly do it. It takes a little more time and effort, but once you have experienced the joy that comes from creating "rainbows", life is never quite the same. Tasks that once seemed boring and routine take on new meaning and are very rewarding.

Following are some simple rules for creating your own rainbows:

1. Give everything you've got.

The champion is the person who gives the most to every task. The runner-up may have equal or superior potential, but he holds back. The more you give, the more you have to give - and the more rainbows you create.

2. Give it one more try.

It's hard to experience repeated failure and still go on trying. But sometimes it's harder to go on after achieving only partial success. Gustave Flaubert rewrote his great novel, Madame Bovary, at least three times, and he was still not satisfied with it and he considered burning it. Instead he gave it one last try, and the result is a classic.

3. Take a proprietary attitude toward your job.

Charles Steinmetz, the electrical wizard, used to work in his laboratory at General Electric late at night. He was asked why he did this. He didn't get anymore salary because of his long hours. Steinmetz said, "My friend, it doesn't matter how much you get or who pays you. You are always working for yourself."

4. Tackle little jobs as if they were big ones.

Some people don't realize that the big job consists of many little jobs, all of which have to be done well. If even small jobs are consistently well done sooner or later the secret will be out, and many people will hear of it.

5. Create your own style.

Style is considered the truest form of self-expression. "A man's style," said 17th-century author Francois Fenelon, "is as much a part of him as his face, his figure or the rhythm of his pulse." Doing something you can call your own satisfies a deep need within yourself. All of us feel the urge to impose our own order on some small part of this chaotic world. It is the way we discover who we are. It is the way we create rainbows.

(Source: Readers Digest, November 1966 Issue)

Portland, Oregon

Maxine Adamson

On Saturday March 11th Esther Carroll, Linda and I started for Seattle after I got off work about 11:30 A.M. It was a wet and rainy day, but we arrived safely at the chapel in Seattle to hear Dianne announce that she had found a new house and would have to be moved in by Wednesday. She was kept busy making arrangements for moving during the time we were there. We had a good time of fellowship on Saturday eveing before we finally all climbed into bed.

Sunday was a beautiful day. Dianne had made arrangements with a young man she knows to move her heavy furniture. Esther and I were hoping to meet him before we left, as Dianne feels he is a good contact for the Principles; but he had not arrived before we had to leave.

The Hilts twins did come over on Sunday morning. Dianne is working with them now and teaching them the Principles even though there is much opposition from their father.

The ride back to Portland was long, but the day was beautiful. I was glad to be able to enjoy the beauty of God's creation.

BRIEF NEWS REELS

Portland, Oregon

Two new contacts of Esther's have been coming regularly to the Portland chapel meeting. One of them has bought the book and is intensively studying the Principles.

Linda Carroll is continuously practicing the lecture series.

Esther and Maxine left for Seattle on March 11th to meet with Dianne as a substitute monthly training session that could not be held in March.

Reno, Nevada

On March 11th Marie Laux and Terre Hall drove to Reno on a regular monthly missionary trip to the State of Nevada. The University of Nevada was visited as well as a church on Sunday morning. Several new contacts were made for future follow up.

Berkeley, California.

Something new has been added to the Berkeley campus! It now has a singing missionary singing praises to God, our Master, and telling of the restoration of mankind. Garold Johnson's very inspiring song have made it possible to meet and talk with many people that had previously passed by our table with no more than a glance. Garold is proving to be a real asset to the work here in Berkeley.

Clearfield, Utah

With Mrs. Kim in Utah, it has been possible to invite many contacts to Mr. and Mrs. Kim's apartment for Korean dinner. Everyone highly complimented Mrs. Kim on the delicacy of the Korean food she cooked for their enjoyment.

Mr. David Kim has been promoted to regular counsellor now after several months trial to test his ability. Congratulations to Mr. David Kim!