On Saturday, May 23, 2015, the Cranes Club held a luncheon at the Double Tree Hotel near East Garden, and it was a great success! They had exactly 40 Cranes come from New York, New Jersey, Canada, Virginia, and Maryland. Participants were very moved by True Mother's sincere sharing earlier that morning and were grateful for the Cranes Club lunch as a time to share their hearts as well.

Some of the elder young adults that attended were In Ho Park, his wife Grace, and Yoshiko Kamiyama. In Ho was able to share a few words with the group. Other participants include Tenseng Guh, a software engineer, and Gelo Fleisher, an accountant for a holding company. All the others were working professionals averaging in their mid-20s.

The main objectives of this event was for everyone in the Cranes Club demographic to get to know one another and to learn about True Mother's vision for the club. It was also a chance to put a plugin for a local chapter brainstorming session in New York and New Jersey in mid-June. In short, they achieved these objectives with much thanks to True Mother for bringing all these people together.
