Dear beloved EUME leaders and members, good evening, everyone.

I want to begin by sincerely thanking each one of you for joining this EUME prayer call tonight. It truly touches my heart to see so many leaders and blessed families from across Europe and the Middle East, gather together in one spirit, one heart, and one purpose. First and foremost, let us offer our deepest praise, gratitude, and glory to our heavenly parents and our true parents for allowing us to come together at this precious time. Actually, I'm speaking to you today from Chung Pyung, Korea, where I have recently received a new and very humbling mission. I was just appointed as Secretary General of the World Mission headquarters. From this moment forward, I'll be serving closely beside True Mother, doing my best to support her vision and to work together with her in heart. Brothers and sisters, as you know, True Mother is carrying an incredibly heavy burden at this time. She is facing challenges that none of us can fully imagine. Yet she stands firm, unshaken, and resolute. What moves me most deeply is that even in the midst of such difficulties, true mother continues to think only of her children, you and me, and all our blessed families around the world.

Her heart is filled with love and compassion, and she endures each day with unchanging faith and hope for heaven's providence. Recently, a bold and providential decision was made. The Cheom Mu Won system was ended, and the beginning of new era and new history was proclaimed. With this proclamation, three major organisations were restructured. Those are World Mission headquarters, Central Administrative Council, and Human Resources Development Institute. Through these organisations, True Mother is calling upon us for children, to take responsibility, to become one in heart, one in purpose, and to begin this new chapter together. This is a historic turning point, and we are all being invited to work closely with the true mother in fulfilling heaven's providence. Over the past four months, I have had a precious opportunity to serve as the Southwest Regional Director of EUME. I visited so many countries, met many leaders, and embraced countless brothers and sisters. I could feel through parents' tears, sweat, and sacrifices poured out upon EUME's soil, and I could also experience firsthand how deeply our members love true parents and long to comfort them. Even though my time with you was short, it was one of the most meaningful periods in my life.

I discovered so much hope in the heart of EUME movement. In particular, I was so inspired by our pure-water youth, the second, third, even fourth generation sons and daughters who are working so hard to live as a failure children of Hyo-Jung, uniting their hearts with our true mother's heart. When I saw them praising, praying, and dedicating themselves with such a purity, I could not hold back my tears. In that moment, I truly believed, yes, there is hope for us. The future of Cheon Il Guk is bright. I also realised how precious true mother's investment has been. Especially in raising Shinchul nim and Shinheing nim to stand as examples and leaders for the future. Today, we are witnessing the beginnings of those seeds bearing fruit, and for that, I'm so deeply grateful.

Dear beloved leaders and members, this is a crucial moment in heaven's providence. No matter what trials we face, we must unite absolutely with the true mother. She is leading the way forward with an unshakable heart of love and sacrifice. And now it is our turn as a failure of children to protect her, support her, and fulfil the mission entrusted to us. When our prayers and devotions rise together as one offering before heaven, miracles will surely happen.

I believe this with all my heart. Let us never lose hope. Let us never lose our faith. And let us always remember why we have been called at this time to stand beside true mother and to comfort her heart. Brothers and sisters, although my official mission as Southwest Regional Director has concluded, Please know this. My heart will always remain with you. I'm your brother forever, your friend, and your fellow traveller in this providence. We are one family, and we will continue walking by side by side. I also want to express my deepest gratitude to those who supported me during my time in Europe and the Middle East. Thank you, Dr. and Mrs. Balcomb, Dieter Schmidt, Umberto, Angelucci Impyo Moon, and Cheombo team. All the regional directors, national leaders, and every one of you in the EUME family. Thank you so much for your love, your prayers, and your unceasing devotion. You have strengthened me and inspired me more than words can express.

Dear brothers and sisters, as we stand together in this new era, let us renew our commitment. Let us walk forward with one heart, one will, and one spirit for the sake of heavenly parents, true parents, and the fulfilment of Chen Il Guk.

I love you all dearly. Please stay healthy, stay strong, and stay united in heart until we meet again. Thank you, and may heavenly parent and children bless you abundantly.
