Shin Chul Moon

Shin Yuh Moon

Shin Heung Moon

The Band reunited to perform for this commemorative occasion together with Hyo Jin Moon's Children. Touring Seoul, New York, and Tokyo playing songs with the same spirit and heart.

ANCESTORS

The Ancestors are featured guests at this 10 Anniversary Tribute Concert. Bandleader Joe Longo, longtime friend of Hyo-Jin Moon, worked with him the 1990's to build several recording studios and create a community of artists at Manhattan Center. Ancestors performed in New York City at venues ranging from CBGB's to Carnegie Hall, winning kudos all along the way. They toured Japan and Korea with Hyo Jin and effectively ended the "ban on western music" with their historic tour of mainland China in 1992.

They will be performing songs that Hyo Jin loved and recorded on as well as current material.

Joe Longo, a New York City singer-songwriter, has perform all over the world with several critically acclaimed albums to his credit and has also worked with Broadway's Circle in The Square Theater to present children's musicals for inner city children...

"They're not just a band. That's something like saying the Bible is just a book..." – Fairfield County Weekly

"Songs imbued with mystical stirrings and idealism... they took the stage by storm!" – The New York Times

"Mightily impressive and hugely original." – Maverick Magazine, UK

About Hyo Jin Moon

Hyo Jin Moon was a Korean musician, a media entrepreneur, a young global peace activist, and a faithful devotee who had an exemplary heart of filial piety toward God, the Parent of humankind. In 1988, he released his first album (aesengi Rebirth) and during the short forty-five years of his life, he left behind fifteen full-length albums and two extended-play albums, which contain songs that he personally wrote and composed or arranged. His passionate songs were about having a heart of filial piety toward his father and mother, Rev. Sun Myung Moon and Mrs. Hak Ja Han, who devoted themselves to God.

He also sent a strong message to the public of the importance of true families and the irrationality of society through straightforward lyrics and spoken expressions. Especially between the years 2000 and 2002, Hyo Jin Moon set a goal to write more than ten thousand songs. His spirit was on fire, writing, composing, playing, and recording day and night, and showed an amazing volition as a singer. In 1986, Hyo Jin Moon as a media entrepreneur established the Manhattan Center Studios. There he provided music for the Korean movie Old Boy(2003) and did production work for Our School's E.T. (2008), as well as produced the albums for singer Jin Young Cha and the Korean hip hop group Turtles. The Studios also produced more than 20 documentaries including the Portrait of Jesus. The Manhattan Center Studios was also home to educational programs that analyzed the cause and presented solutions to religious, family, and social issues. Hyo Jin Moon was the first president of the World Collegiate Association for the Research of Principles (W-CARP) from 1982 to 1995 and led the youth movement at the front lines to end the Cold War and realize world peace.

What is Hyo Jeong

Culture?

Hyo Jeong is a Korean word combining two ideas:
"hyo" - Filial and "jeong" - heart.

“Hyo Jeong” in Korea is used to describe filial heart. Combined "hyojeong" means "Culture of Filial Piety", or creating a culture of heart. This heart delivered through the arts, has the power to revolutionize the culture. This term is a Unificationist school of thought.

“He demonstrated filial piety not only through words. Hyo Jin thought that manpower and time were needed in order for [the Divine Principle] to be accepted. He also thought a lot about effective ways to reach people all at once, like a whirlwind. That is how he decided, “I have to change people’s minds through music and guide them to the church in this manner.” After making this decision, he wrote thousands of songs in just three years. This is impossible with human power alone.

We all have physical limits. As you know, we must replenish ourselves when investing so much energy in this manner.

I remember the words he said.

According to him, thoughts coming into our head usually change based on the situation. However, what is experienced through the heart goes for eternity. So he would say that though witnessing through the Principle is important, for him however, he would try to first move people's hearts and then guide them to accept the word. That is the kind of effort my son invested."
