Weekly Message No. 22 from Rev. Ken Doo, Director General of World Mission Headquarters, with the title Encountering Father's Commitments and Mother's Love in Heavenly Europe, Delivered on June 26, 2026

Beloved and respected blessed families and members throughout the world,

As we enter this season in which Heavenly Parent's blessings abound ever more richly throughout all creation, I pray that each of you will have a meaningful week experiencing the commitments we shared with True Father and the love of True Mother in your daily lives.

1. Summary of Last Week's Message

Last week, under the theme "The Question the Day of All True Things Asks of Us," we reflected on the providential course True Father walked to complete the 6,000-year history of restoration, and how that providence finds its ultimate fulfillment through True Mother's mission as the Only Begotten Daughter.

In particular, we emphasized that the question posed by the Day of All True Things is not a simple issue of commemorating a historic day. Rather, it calls Blessed Families today to a deeper spiritual reflection: how fully do we understand and embody the will of True Parents and the providential mission entrusted to True Mother?

2. Overview of the Tour of the Heavenly Europe and Middle East Continent and the Inauguration of a New Youth Department Director

This week, continuing in the spirit of that reflection, I would like to share with you the journey of the Heavenly Europe and Middle East Continental Tour - a 13-day course held from late May - under the theme "True Father's Commitments, True Mother's Love."

From May 22 to June 3, I visited Germany, Albania, Italy, and Spain, connecting with various schedules including worship services, meetings with leaders and young people, and inauguration ceremonies for new leadership.

In Germany, the Special Pentecost Worship Service, a long-standing tradition in Heavenly Europe, was held at the Camberg Training Center. This is the same meaningful gathering that was held on a grander scale in 2024, when True Mother personally attended and spoke.

With approximately 3,000 members participating both in person and online, it was a time of grace when we reflected upon the true essence of Jesus, the value of the only begotten Daughter, and Heavenly Parent's providence of salvation through True Parents, while returning to the original point of our faith.

A notable event during the worship service was the inauguration of a Heavenly Europe and Middle East Continental Youth Director. Following True Mother's victorious entrance into the Cheon Won Gung Cheonil Sanctum, the Heavenly Europe and Middle East Continent has been preparing for a new beginning centered on the new generation and Pure Water members. Through an open recruitment process and rigorous evaluation, Karen Pock, a second-generation member from Germany, was selected for this position.

In her inaugural address, Director Pock expressed her determination to offer value to Heavenly Parent and True Parents through a heart of filial love, to serve Europe's upcoming generation, and to contribute to the providence.

This was more than a simple personnel appointment. It symbolized the beginning of a new era in which the younger generation, raised in True Mother's love, is now taking up its providential responsibility and carrying it forward.

At the conclusion of the inauguration ceremony, continental leaders and members joined hands around the new youth director and offered a unison prayer. That prayer expressed both the hope that the faith and traditions safeguarded by the elder generation would be fully inherited by the younger generation, and the determination of the young people to carry that legacy forward, opening paths to the future.

Through this beautiful scene of trust and unity bridging the generations, we were able to witness the Pure Water generation, nurtured through True Mother's love, rising as the central actors in the providence. It signified new hope and a powerful new beginning for the Heavenly Europe and Middle East Continent.

3. Change of National Leadership in Spain

On June 1, a special Sunday Service was held in Madrid, Spain, commemorating the retirement of Maryvonne and Miguel Calvis, who have led the church in Spain for 18 years, and the inauguration of a new three-couple co-pastoral leadership team.

Maryvonne Calvis reflected that she had never considered herself as having leadership potential. However, 18 years ago, at a meeting in the United States, True Father, concerned that the position of Spanish National Leader had remained vacant for a long period, personally appointed her from among those present, giving her the direction, "Serve as the national leader."

Although it was an unexpected call, Maryvonne decided to obey True Father's direction. The members in Spain likewise united around True Parents' will and supported her leadership as they built the community together.

Having upheld True Father's instruction and served the community for 18 years, the Calvis family has now reached a new turning point. Following True Mother's victorious entrance into the Cheon Won Gung Cheonil Sanctum, and amid the unfolding providence centered on a new generation, second-generation blessed families who were born and raised in Spain have resolved to assume responsibility for the ministry through a co-pastoral leadership model.

The inauguration ceremony was a moving testimony that the obedience and devoted effort that began with one simple direction from True Father 18 years ago have now borne fruit in the form of younger-generation leaders. At the same time, it was a moment of great hope showing that the providence centered on a new generation - which True Mother has consistently emphasized - is becoming a tangible reality in our mission locations.

4. The Success of a Providential Business and a Model for the Systematic Management of Public Assets

During my visit to Europe, I also had the opportunity to visit the factory of Spain's Tongil company, one of our providential businesses, where I personally witnessed how a providential commitment inherited from True Father has borne fruit over the course of half a century.

Company President Segundo Marchan recalled the time in 1975 when True Father instructed the European members to distribute ginseng products. In those days, there was little foundation to support the mission, and the members began with small business efforts, maintaining firm faith in True Father's words.

Today, 50 years later, that seed of obedience has grown into a company employing approximately 100 people and generating annual sales exceeding 10 million dollars, providing a foundation for the support of both the mission and the local community.

At the conclusion of the tour, Mr. Marchan shared this testimony:

"Heavenly Parent is with our factory. Because this company is operated for the sake of the providence, it has been able to succeed. I am simply grateful."

Through this visit, we were able to see that a seed planted through one word from True Father has borne fruit that now sustains a community. We also witnessed how churches, training centers, and public assets throughout the Heavenly Europe and Middle East Continent are being faithfully maintained and passed down through the devotion and sacrifice of early members. In doing so, we could deeply feel that our commitments shared with Father continue to live and move today within Mother's love.

5. This Week's Practice: Carrying the Promise Forward Through Love

Beloved members,

Throughout this tour, I was able to observe one common thread across Europe: the seeds that True Father planted are growing within True Mother's love.

The new generation is assuming responsibility. The devotion of the older generation is bearing fruit. Communities and providential foundations are being passed on to the next generation.

During this coming week, I encourage you to take time to reflect on how "Father's Commitments" and "Mother's Love" are taking shape within your families and communities.

Please recall the small commitments and practices you once made with True Father, and prayerfully consider how you can continue and embody them today within True Mother's love.

I would also encourage our younger-generation youth to listen carefully to the stories of your first-generation parents and senior members. Ask them about the promises they carried in their hearts as they walked with True Parents.

Those stories are more than just memories of the past; they are the inheritance that you will carry forward into the future.

I pray that the blessings of Heavenly Parent and True Parents will flow abundantly into your families and your lives throughout the coming week.

Thank you.
