True Parents' century-long life course presented as a year-by-year timeline

Marking the 14th anniversary of True Father's Seonghwa, the SunHak Institute of History has released TP Universe, an archive platform presenting True Parents' life course and major achievements at a glance.

TP Universe is an online archive platform that organizes True Parents' century-long life course into a year-by-year timeline. Users can follow the major milestones and achievements of their lives in chronological order, and can also view photographs, video footage and other records connected to each event.

The content is offered around four themes: LIFE, LOVE, PEACE and DREAM. Users may search for a particular year they wish to revisit, or follow a theme of interest, as they explore True Parents' major milestones and achievements.

A range of archival materials accompanies each event, allowing for a more multidimensional understanding of True Parents' lives. The platform can be used for personal study as well as serving as a foundational resource for lectures, sermons and research into True Parents' life course.

At present, TP Universe covers the life course and related materials up to 1980. Materials for later periods, including photographs and video, will be added in stages.

Through TP Universe, the SunHak Institute of History plans to document True Parents' lives and achievements systematically and to continue expanding the content so that users can explore their significance more deeply by era and by theme.

TP Universe is optimized for desktop computers, and a simplified version is available on mobile devices.
