Dear,

As this year comes to a close, I want to speak to you as a partner in a shared mission: one that is both urgent and deeply personal. 2025 has reminded us that peace is not automatic. It requires courage, commitment, and action from each of us. The world faces division, uncertainty, and challenge, but within every challenge lies the opportunity to step up and make significant breakthroughs.

Peacebuilding begins with each individual. It begins in our homes, in our neighborhoods, in the ways we treat others with respect, understanding, and compassion. It grows when we take responsibility for lifting others, resolving conflict, and fostering unity wherever we can. Your actions, your voice, your leadership—they matter. They have ripple effects far beyond what you may see.

This holiday season, I encourage you to reflect not only on what has been achieved but also on the role you play in shaping a more peaceful world. Every conversation you foster, every act of service, and every effort to build bridges strengthens the foundation for lasting peace. Together, we are more than participants; we are catalysts for transformation in our communities, our nations, and our world.

As we look toward 2026, let us recommit to this mission with energy, courage, and heart. The work is not easy, but the impact is profound. Thank you for stepping up, for believing, and for acting to make peace a reality.

With respect, gratitude, and hope,

Alan Inman
