

Colorado Family Church: Family Camp this Summer! [Please Reply]

Dear families,

I have been gathering input on what we can offer our families and children this summer, and the resounding response is that people would love to attend a weekend Family Camp!

There are a couple great locations and times (early July and middle of August) we are looking at, but before I make a reservation, we need to get an idea of how many people would like to come. It would be 2 nights in a beautiful mountain location with lots of activities available for families to participate in.

Most likely we would ask families to cover about 1/2 the cost of lodging, which would be about $50 per person, and we would cap it at $200-250 per family.

If you think your family would like and be able to attend something like this (even if you are not 100% sure), PLEASE REPLY by this Friday, so that we can make a reservation to accommodate all the people who want to participate.

Thank you!

In addition to Family Camp, we will organize a few days this summer for older kids to have fun and learn together. Stay tuned for more info!
