Michael Jenkins

Dear Colleague:

The Korean War, the longest-running war in modern history, has never been declared finished since it began nearly 72 years ago. To this day, the Korean Peninsula remains divided, and the families that were separated by the way, remain separated today.

Please join us online February 1-3 for Think Tank 2022, a three-day conference for deliberation on workable solutions by experts representing diverse spheres of human endeavor: political; business and economics; spiritual; media; women leaders; academia; arts and culture.

Here is the schedule at a glance. Click on a session link below to register for a particular session. Or go to the <https://thinktank2022.us/globalforum/> website and scroll down for more details about each session, as well as the unique registration for that session.
