SPECIAL SECURITY CHALLENGES IN
THE U.S. ELECTION SEASON
War by any name but war

GUEST PANELIST
Guy Taylor
National Security Editor,
The Washington Times

Ambassador
Joseph DeTrani
Former Special Envoy for negotiations with North Korea

Dr. Alexandre
Mansourov
Professor, Center for Security Studies,
Georgetown University

Dr. Michael
Jenkins

Some have observed that the U.S. is under attack everywhere in the world, but without actually being in combat. Cyber attacks are increasingly the first shots fired in combat, whether declared or undeclared. We are "involved" in Ukraine, Gaza, Taiwan and the Korean Peninsula. Meanwhile, at home we could not be any more divided short of getting physical. And we haven't a clue who has come across our southern border on Biden-Harris' watch. The threat assessment is high.

Join Washington Times National Security Editor Guy Taylor, along with moderator Amb. Joseph DeTrani, former U.S. envoy to the six-party talks and Dr. Alexandre Mansourov, professor of security studies at Georgetown, as they examine the security challenges both parties face going into our national election.
