David Piqué

"Founder and CEO of Pixelpro for already 10 years

an international web-based Company of online courses to learn about web and app design and all other things related to the digital world. He is a trainer and businessman specialized in the areas of web development and mobile applications. Passionate about his work and the technologies that allowed him to shape his projects Actually he is as well CTO and CMO of Tongil."

Ely Loew

"Ely recently moved from one of the largest companies in the world to a small start up based in Dublin, Ireland. After nearly 9 years at Google working in sales, digital marketing, and within the YouTube Ads Product org, he shifted gears and went to a small software start up called Artomatix which specializes in combining AI with art software for 3D artists. He has been leading and building a new product team there for the past 8 months. Ely has served as a Director of Cranes Club Europe since 2016 and he is also the national leader of FFWPU in the Republic of Ireland"
