

Abe Assassination and Anti-Cult Discrimination

Richard A. Panzer

September 6, 2022

World Peace and Unification Sanctuary - USA

Overcoming Challenges for Family Restoration

When Joseph saw that his father laid his right hand on the head of Ephraim, it displeased him, and he took his father's hand to move it from Ephraim's head to Manasseh's head. And Joseph said to his father, "Not this way, my father; since this one is the firstborn, put your right hand on his head." But his father refused and said, "I know, my son, I know. He also shall become a people, and he also shall be great. Nevertheless, his younger brother shall be greater than he, and his offspring shall become a multitude of nations." So he blessed them that day, saying, "By you Israel will pronounce blessings, saying, 'God make you as Ephraim and as Manasseh.'" Thus he put Ephraim before Manasseh. Gen 48:17-20

I want you to understand that God is not a God of glory. God has been the God of suffering, the God of heartbreak and tragedy. You cannot comfort God in fine clothing; you cannot comfort God in a most relaxed, comfortable situation. You cannot praise God in a position of honor. God will not want to receive it. Instead you must come down to be even more miserable than He is. In that way you can comfort God.

SMM, The Dignity of God and Man 4-1-77

Hello,

Hyung Jin Nim started the Sunday sermon by talking about Joseph, who was one of the biggest preppers in history. He saved the whole nation of Egypt by preparing food reserves in advance. God gives us wisdom to prepare and expects us to do so.

Reuben, as the first born, would normally be the inheritor given the largest anointing, but since he laid with Jacob's wives, he was cursed by his father.

The sons of Joseph, Manasseh and Ephraim, although grandsons, were considered as among the tribes of Israel. But Israel blessed Ephraim the younger son with his right hand, and Manasseh, the older son, with the left hand, reversing the cultural norm for restoration purposes in the same pattern as Cain/Abel and Esau/Jacob.

God accepted Abel's offering, but not Cain's, in order to restore the reversal of dominion by Lucifer over Adam. Abel should have been humble and helped Cain.

The providential lineage of David and Jesus includes Tamar who seduced her father-in law and the prostitute, Rahab, again for restorative reasons explained in the Divine Principle.

Unification Sanctuary Service 9/4/2022

The older brother is called to transcend his own feelings of disappointment, and to honor his father by helping the younger brother. The unity of Cain and Abel is essential in creating the foundation for the Messiah's coming, victory and the establishment of God's Kingship.

There was also tremendous emotion in the True Family due to sibling rivalry. We should guide our children when they have jealousy to overcome their feelings. Raising our children grows our heart and patience, like God's.

The popular culture emphasizes making an external material foundation, but not investing in your marriage and family. 85% of young women say they intend to have a family and children someday, but many play around and focus on career, instead of on family. Satan says "play now." But that will likely bring broken relationships and heartache into your marriage, learning bad habits which need to be changed. One premarital sexual partner other than your spouse greatly raises chance of divorce. (Teachman, J., (2003), "Premarital sex, premarital cohabitation, and the risk of subsequent marital dissolution among women," Journal of Marriage and the Family 65, 2, 444-455.)

When you're single, you are not challenged to grow so much since you are basically focusing on yourself. The experience of parents' divorce can be traumatic to children. The parents' responsibility is more than just providing food, shelter, and healthcare. The Jewish tradition emphasizes investing in offspring. Parents, as the priest and evangelist of the home, should guide their children towards maturity and towards Christ. Kids are often different from you but you still need to find a way to instill within them confidence.

Even though he experienced physical abuse from his older brothers Hyung Jin Nim chose not to use physical force with own children. It's important to learn and teach de-escalation skills.

It's better to get married younger so you can overcome life challenges together with your spouse. To bond, men usually like to do activities, but women need face-to-face time for communication. Doing the tea Ceremony every day is a way to stop from daily concerns, a time to express gratitude, appreciation, and discuss higher concerns.

We tend to repeat the mistakes of our parents, but we can break generational bad habits. Learn to communicate and negotiate with your spouse. Several young couples in Cheongpyeong are challenging to go to the most expensive restaurant in Nashville.

Early in their marriage Justin sponsored Hyung Jin Nim and Yeonah Nim to go to the most expensive French restaurant in NYC. It demythologized the life of the "rich and famous." But doing so shows you're willing to invest in your marital relationship. Are you celebrating your marriage or just enduring your it? Remember, the meaning of Cheon (heaven) is two becoming one.

*****

The Abe Assassination. The Word "Cult" Is A Tool for Discrimination

The anti-Unification-Church campaign in Japan is another egregious example of the use of the "cult" label to discriminate against unpopular minorities.

by Massimo Introvigne

On June 6, 2014, Japanese Prime Minister Shinzo Abe visited Pope Francis in the Vatican. He offered him a replica of a Japanese 17th-century "secret mirror." It looks like a normal mirror but, when inclined to intercept a ray from the sun, it reveals an image of Jesus Christ. Christians in Japan had to use the secret mirrors at that time since, if they were caught with a Christian image or symbol, they were executed. Abe apologized to the Catholic Church for the more than 5,000 Catholics who had been killed in Japan during the persecutions of the 16th and 17th centuries and beyond. Many of them were crucified.

As late as 1829, three women and three men were paraded through the streets of Osaka and crucified for being members of the "evil cult" of Christianity (perhaps they weren't) and for recruiting followers through the use of black magic.

Abe's apology was commendable, but it would seem to refer to atrocities of a remote past. Or perhaps not. Scholars such as James T. Richardson and Wu Junqing have noted that not much has changed from the times when witches were burned in the West and "evil cults" were bloodily persecuted in Imperial China and Japan. The only difference is that black magic has been secularized into brainwashing, a pseudo-scientific concept implying that "cults" now bewitch their followers through mysterious psychological techniques.

\(Read rest of Massimo Introvigne's Article\)

*****

May God bless you and your families!

Sincerely,

Richard

Richard A. Panzer, Ph.D., President
World Peace and Unification Sanctuary - USA

The Abe Assassination. The Word “Cult” Is A Tool for Discrimination

09/02/2022 MASSIMO INTROVIGNE

A+ | A-

The anti-Unification-Church campaign in Japan is another egregious example of the use of the “cult” label to discriminate against unpopular minorities.

by Massimo Introvigne

Article 6 of 7. Read article 1, article 2, article 3, article 4, and article 5.

A member of the Unification Church/Family Federation protests in Korea against discrimination in Japan.

On June 6, 2014, Japanese Prime Minister Shinzo Abe visited Pope Francis in the Vatican. He offered him a replica of a Japanese 17th-century “secret mirror.” It looks like a normal mirror but, when inclined to intercept a ray from the sun, it reveals an image of Jesus Christ. Christians in Japan had to use the secret mirrors at that time since, if they were caught with a Christian image or symbol, they were executed. Abe apologized to the Catholic Church for the more than 5,000 Catholics who had been killed in Japan during the persecutions of the 16th and 17th centuries and beyond. Many of them were crucified.

As late as 1829, three women and three men were paraded through the streets of Osaka and crucified for being members of the “evil cult” of Christianity (perhaps they weren’t) and for recruiting followers through the use of black magic.

Christians crucified in Nagasaki in 1597, engraving by Wolfgang Kilian (1581–1663). Credits.

Abe's apology was commendable, but it would seem to refer to atrocities of a remote past. Or perhaps not. Scholars such as James T. Richardson and Wu Junqing have noted that not much has changed from the times when witches were burned in the West and "evil cults" were bloodily persecuted in Imperial China and Japan. The only difference is that black magic has been secularized into brainwashing, a pseudo-scientific concept implying that "cults" now bewitch their followers through mysterious psychological techniques.

Ironically, while Abe apologized for the persecution of Christianity in Japan as an "evil cult" that used black magic, his assassination is being used to label the Unification Church/Family Federation as a "cult" that obtains donations through brainwashing, the modern version of black magic, and call for a crackdown on "cults" in general. The twisted logic supporting these claims is based on the fact that Abe's assassin hated the Unification Church because his mother made heavy donations to it twenty years ago. He killed Abe to punish him for attending via videos events of an organization connected with that Church. Rather than blaming the assassin, and the hate campaigns against the Unification Church that may have excited him, the victims are put on trial in a spectacular reversal of both logic and fairness.

But what is a "cult"? A large majority of scholars of religions agree that there are no cults. "Cult" is just a label used to discriminate against groups that powerful lobbies, for whatever reasons, do not like. It was not always so. "Cult" and its functional equivalents in other languages derived from the Latin word "secta" such as the French "secte"—to be translated "cult" rather than "sect"—had a precise meaning in early-20th-century sociology. They indicated young religions, where most or all members had converted as adults rather than being born in the faith. The example used by the early sociologists was that Jesus and the apostles were part of a "cult" as none of them was born as a Christian; they were all converted Jews. After some centuries, those born Christians became the majority, and Christianity evolved from "cult" (or "secte" in French) to church. Most of the scholars who used this terminology were themselves Christians, and clearly for them the word "cult" had no negative implications.

Typical sensational coverage of “cults” (sectes) in the French media.

However, during the course of the 20th century, with some older precedents, a new science, criminology, started using the word “cult” with a very different meaning. A “cult” was a religious group that systematically committed crimes or would likely commit crimes in the future. This meaning of “cult” was similar to the expression “evil cult” used to persecute and crucify Christians in Imperial Japan. It also created a confusion. A sociologist in the 1960s, asked whether Jesus and the apostles were part of a “cult,” should have answered yes based on traditional sociological categories but, since the criminological use of the term was conquering the media as well, would risk to be misunderstood and accused of having labeled the first Christians as criminals.

For this reason, since at least the 1980s, international scholars of religion, led by British sociologist Eileen Barker, abandoned the word “cult” and adopted “new religious movements” for the newly established groups where most members were first generation converts. They were aware of the use of “cult” by criminologists, and did not deny the existence of groups that routinely commit crimes in the name of religion, among “new” but also among “old” religious traditions—such as networks of pedophile Catholic priests or terrorists who use or misuse the name of Islam. Since the word “cult” would only create confusion, they adopted other expressions, which later included “criminal religious movements,” suggested by the undersigned.

With her 1984 book on conversions to the Unification Church, Eileen Barker debunked the theory that “cults” were different from “religions” because they used “brainwashing” to convert their followers.

Criminal religious movements are groups that systematically commit or at least incite to commit common crimes such as physical violence, rape, child abuse, or murder. Since the late 1960s, activist “anti-cult” groups appeared that called for limiting the activities of “cults.” They defined them not as movements committing common crimes such as homicide or sexual abuse but as groups guilty of an imaginary crime, brainwashing. The word “brainwashing” was coined during the Cold War by the CIA to designate mysterious techniques allegedly used by the Chinese Maoists and the Soviets to turn almost instantly otherwise “normal” citizens into Communists. It was later applied to “cults.” By 1990, it had been debunked by religious scholars, as pseudo-science simply used to discriminate against certain groups, and rejected by courts of law, at least in the United States.

The Abe assassination is now used for reviving the dead horse of brainwashing and of theories claiming that bad “cults,” unlike good “religions,” recruit members and donors through mental manipulation. Just as it happened during the European witch hunts and the Japanese persecution of Christians for which Abe apologized, accusations of black magic—of which brainwashing is only the secularized version—and of operating an “evil cult” lead to dehumanize, discriminate and persecute those so accused. Today, they come for the Unification Church. Tomorrow, they may come for any religion that has among its enemies lobbies powerful enough to persuade the media it is a “cult.”

TAGGED WITH: ANTI-CULT, JAPAN, UNIFICATION CHURCH

Massimo Introvigne

Massimo Introvigne (born June 14, 1955 in Rome) is an Italian sociologist of religions. He is the founder and managing director of the Center for Studies on New Religions (CESNUR), an international network of scholars who study new religious movements. Introvigne is the author of some 70 books and more than 100 articles in the field of sociology of religion. He was the main author of the Enciclopedia delle religioni in Italia (Encyclopedia of Religions in Italy). He is a member of the editorial board for the Interdisciplinary Journal of Research on Religion and of the executive board of University of California Press' Nova Religio. From January 5 to December 31, 2011, he has served as the “Representative on combating racism, xenophobia and discrimination, with a special focus on discrimination against Christians and members of other religions” of the Organization for Security and Co-operation in Europe (OSCE). From 2012 to 2015 he served as chairperson of the Observatory of Religious Liberty, instituted by the Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs in order to monitor problems of religious liberty on a worldwide scale.

www.cesnur.org/

Related articles

El asesinato del ex-primer ministro Abe. La Iglesia de la Unifi... la discriminación

Why Media Hate “Cults”

El asesinato de Abe. ¿Abogados “contra las ventas espirituales” o contra la lib... religiosa?

L'assassinat d'Abe. Le Japon va-t-il priver les politiciens de la liberté de religion ?

Keep Reading

安倍暗殺：日本は政治家の信教の自由を否定するのか？