The Elder Son's Birthright

*In the third year of Hoshea son of Elah, king of Israel, Hezekiah the son of Ahaz, king of Judah, began to reign. He was twenty-five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Abi the daughter of Zechariah. And he did what was right in the eyes of the Lord, according to all that David his father had done. He removed the high places and broke the pillars and cut down the Asherah. And he broke in pieces the bronze serpent that Moses had made, for until those days the people of Israel had made offerings to it (it was called Nehushtan). He trusted in the Lord, the God of Israel, so that there was none like him among all the kings of Judah after him, nor among those who were before him. For he held fast to the Lord. He did not depart from following him, but kept the commandments that the Lord commanded Moses. And the Lord was with him; wherever he went out, he prospered. 2 Kings 18:1-7

I want to leave just one tradition when everything is over, that I pursued the love of God and was a man of the love of God. When you go to spirit world that love is the only asset you will have. That's the only thing you can take with you to the spirit world.

SMM, Core of Unification, October 9, 1977

Hello,

In Sunday's message, Hyung Jin Nim discussed how the Roman Catholic Church and the Orthodox Church believe that their church IS the Kingdom of God. This is the postmillennial view, in which Christ returns after the world has been positively affected by the spread of the Gospel throughout the world.

Some blessed families just have family worship. It is good to have family worship, but they lose the larger community. Gathering and training together in a community is important. The church is the training place which creates a Godly moral culture that supports central blessed families.

Just parenting means a balance of peace and force to protect from threats in a dangerous world. Fathers should seek to be a good and wise judge.

Unificationists know the importance of saving your first sexual experience for your spouse. It's also wonderful if learning to ride a bike and other first life experiences are with your parents. If you raise your children right, then you have already raised your grandchildren. Have the Kingship mindset towards future generations!

In 2008, his older brother Preston was the Vice President of the FFWPU. His father-in-law, Rev. Kwak, was the world president. Then suddenly, True Father chose the skateboarding and martial arts enthusiast youngest son (himself) to be his successor. To emphasize this new appointment, True Father did the crowning 3 times.

The highest church leaders complained to True Father. How can you anoint "number 7" (Hyung Jin Nim)? But Father said, "it is not my choice. God has decided."

After Father ascended, the leaders thought, "he is dead and therefore we can do whatever we want." They colluded with Hak Ja Han to remove Hyung Jin Nim from all of his positions in Korea.

At the time, Hyung Jin Nim had control of billions. He could have done legal battles to keep his positions. But what is most important is the Father-Son relationship. Since he could not agree with the changes to Father's words and blasphemous corruption of his teachings, Hyung Jin Nim chose to not contest his firings. He didn't want to be involved in their agenda.

It was a critical moral test. Upholding the father-son relationship makes the essential path to the Kingdom of God.

True Father put his hedge of protection around Hyung Jin Nim when, years earlier, many in the church were critical because he was going to study with Buddhist monks. But True Father told church leaders, "I am training him!" He felt his father's love. Once he knew for sure that was real, his entire world started to change. He wanted to know God.

2023 may be full of surprises, but we know that God wins in the end. The epic life comes with highs, lows, sufferings, and attacks, but sooner or later Christ's love overcomes all.

CORRECTION from last newsletter: Insurers have reported an 40% increase in excess deaths among young and middle aged adults starting in 2021 (NOT 400%, yet still an astounding increase). It's otherwise known as Sudden Adult Death Syndrome, affecting healthy people in their 20s through 50s.

The Elder Son's Birthright

By Alan Feldsott

The Divine Principle discusses the birthright in terms of the restorative relationship between Jacob and Esau several times. But where is the principle of the original concept of birthright in the Principle? I believe this quote is the only place in the Exposition where it is discussed.

For his part, Satan had seized control of the creation, which God had created by the Principle, and established an unprincipled world having only the outward form of God's intended universe. In the original, principled world, God intended to raise up the eldest son and have him inherit the birthright. Therefore, Satan felt a stronger attachment to the elder son than he did to the younger. Since Satan had already claimed the universe, he vied with God for the elder son, Cain, who was more valuable to him. Because Satan had a strong attachment to Cain, God chose to deal with Abel.

Even in the sinless world that God originally planned, there would be one son who would inherit the birthright from the parents. The one inheriting the birthright is the one who upholds the tradition and culture established by the father, and is the central representative of God in his generation. Originally, the eldest son should have stood in that position. During the course of restoration, it was not the eldest son who was in the position to receive the birthright. In Abraham's family, Jacob, the younger son, received the birthright.

Then what about the family of the messiah, the True Parent? Is the True Parent's family a perfect, sinless family, which stands in the exact position of Adam's family had they not fallen? Is the messiah's family one in which the children have no trace of sin or fallen nature?

In 1983, True Father explained that a single representative of True Father would be chosen:

"There will always be a physical representative of the True Father here on earth, from one generation to another; there will be that axis on which the earth will turn. Therefore, all of you here on earth and all the people in the generations to come will be centered upon the same axis." God's Will and the World

Even in the messiah's family, the children are not all equal in terms of their level of purity, their life standards, and their relationship with their parents and God. We have seen this in real life. Among those children, the messiah must choose the son closest to God who can inherit the birthright. True Father made his wishes perfectly clear in the years before his passing.

The Divine Principle discusses the birthright in terms of the restorative relationship between Jacob and Esau several times. But where is the principle of the original concept of birthright in the Principle? I believe this quote is the only place in the Exposition where it is discussed.

For his part, Satan had seized control of the creation, which God had created by the Principle, and established an unprincipled world having only the outward form of God's intended universe. In the original, principled world, God intended to raise up the eldest son and have him inherit the birthright. Therefore, Satan felt a stronger attachment to the elder son than he did to the younger. Since Satan had already claimed the universe, he vied with God for the elder son, Cain, who was more valuable to him. Because Satan had a strong attachment to Cain, God chose to deal with Abel.

Even in the sinless world that God originally planned, there would be one son who would inherit the birthright from the parents. The one inheriting the birthright is the one who upholds the tradition and culture established by the father, and is the central representative of God in his generation. Originally, the eldest son should have stood in that position. During the course of restoration, it was not the eldest son who was in the position to receive the birthright. In Abraham's family, Jacob, the younger son, received the birthright.

Then what about the family of the messiah, the True Parent? Is the True Parent's family a perfect, sinless family, which stands in the exact position of Adam's family had they not fallen? Is the messiah's family one in which the children have no trace of sin or fallen nature? And what about the wife of the messiah – a woman selected by the messiah from the fallen world, who comes from a fallen lineage? Is she already perfected – free from original sin – at the time she gives birth to the children? What about the environment in which the children grow up? Can a person born without original sin come to have fallen nature, without that person necessarily committing the original sin? These are all important questions, although they are not fully or explicitly answered in the Divine Principle.

In 1983, True Father explained that a single representative of True Father would be chosen:

"There will always be a physical representative of the True Father here on earth, from one generation to another; there will be that axis on which the earth will turn. Therefore, all of you here on earth and all the people in the generations to come will be centered upon the same axis." God's Will and the World

Even in the messiah's family, the children are not all equal in terms of their level of purity, their life standards, and their relationship with their parents and God. We have seen this in real life. Among those children, the messiah must choose the son closest to God who can inherit the birthright. True Father made his wishes perfectly clear in the years before his passing.

At Hoon Dook Hae, two days before the "Inauguration" Ceremony of Hyung Jin Moon took place, Father stated:

"Today, at this time, there must only be one line of authority. The center, centered on Korea or on the world, over the entire Unification Church will stretch out and become larger. From now, I can leave someone in charge of my work on my behalf. Currently, there is no one among our church members who surpasses Hyung Jin in his standard of faith or in any other way. Do you understand? I am appointing him." April 16, 2008

In the "Inauguration" Ceremony of Hyung Jin Moon on April 18, 2008, Father prayed over Hyung Jin Nim and his wife, Yeon Ah Nim:

"True Parents know that it will not be easy for these two, this son and daughter, to teach the authority that they inherit and hold on behalf of True Parents."

In the Ceremony for "The Great Coronation of the Authority of Liberation of God, the King of Kings" on January 15, 2009 in Korea and January 31, 2009 in both Korea and U.S. Father prayed:

"In the context of the Coronation Ceremony for the Establishment of the Sabbath Realm of the True Parents of Heaven, Earth and Humanity, (I report to Hananim that) I transfer and pass on the Blessing of the True Parents (to this couple). Aju."

On April 4, 2010, True Father announced his choice when he crowned Hyung Jin Nim his inheritor and successor 3 times on 2 continents. True Father wrote:

"The King of Kings is one being, God, and the True Parent is one person, one parent. The people of ten thousand generations are likewise the citizens of one lineage, and the children of one Heavenly Kingdom. The headquarters of cosmic peace is also one absolute and unique headquarters. Its representative body and heir is Moon Hyung Jin. Any other person is a heretic and destroyer."

In the "June 5, 2010 Declaration and Will" Father wrote (with his own hand):

"The command center of cosmic peace and unity is the absolute and unique command center. Its representative and heir is Hyung Jin Moon. Anybody else [who claims such a position] would be a heretic and one who brings things to destruction."

On June 21, 2011, True Father explained the critical importance of Hyung-Jin Nim's position:

"God is not necessary, Parents are not necessary. The first son is not necessary, and the third son is not necessary, but the youngest son is necessary even for True Mother, who is Hyung Jin. Also Kook Jin is necessary too. Two sons."

It is not up to anyone else to choose or judge who would inherit the birthright. Father explained:

"No matter how young or youthful the heir is, he is the one who will supervise and control. Likewise, when the inheritance is passed on, it does not matter who is better or worse. When Father hands down this authority in the future, even if that heir is crippled, people must receive the Blessing from that person. That time will come." Blessing and Ideal Family

What is the primary, most important quality that the inheritor should possess? All fallen human beings are in the position of being indebted to the messiah for their salvation, for reclaiming them from Satan's ownership. This includes the bride of Christ, who should live in humble service and absolute gratitude towards the savior. The messiah, the Christ and Savior is also the True Parent of all mankind – not only of his own physical children. The inheritor and successor must deeply understand the value and heart of his father, the Christ, and show the example of filial piety towards him. True Father determined that Hyung Jin Nim best fulfilled that qualification and should be officially given that role.

Hak Ja Han, in the position of True Mother, had the responsibility to uphold True Father as not only “the” messiah, but as “her” messiah. This is the attitude she should have kept not only while True Father was alive, but especially after he passed. Had she done so, she could have kept the position of the True Mother while supporting True Father’s selection of Hyung Jin Nim as the successor. Hyung Jin Nim would have supported his mother, while at the same time fulfilling his church leadership responsibilities as he himself continued to grow.

Hak Ja Han never fully accepted Father’s designation of Hyung Jin Nim as the inheritor. Even before that anointing, she began to rebel against Father, secretly conspiring against him. Hyung Jin Nim was aware of her separation from Father and her unprincipled claims about herself. True Father himself warned about leaders who were following Hak Ja Han instead of himself. Father also publicly proclaimed that he no longer had a wife. (The details of Hak Ja Han’s rebellion towards Father are more fully discussed elsewhere.)

In order for Adam or Eve to become fully one with God, they would have had to remain obedient to God’s Word throughout the growing period, until they reached full maturity or perfection. They would have to reject any temptation that might come their way which would take them off the track that leads to oneness with God. While True Father successfully overcame all of Satan’s temptations, Hak Ja Han did not. In the end, she gave in to Satan’s temptation to make herself the center of power, the center of wealth, and the center of (false) love and adoration. In order to complete that unprincipled process, she had to kick out the rightful inheritor of the birthright, Hyung Jin Nim. She then began the work of solidifying her central position in the church, denying Father’s messiahship while building statues of herself for followers to worship.

On the other hand, Hyung Jin Nim has been the one who has continued to testify to True Father as the Messiah, upholding Father’s directions regarding the 8 Great Textbooks, holidays and ceremonies, etc. As Father stated before he passed, no one was more qualified or held a higher standard than Hyung Jin Nim. While never claiming to be perfect himself, Hyung Jin Nim has continued to live in humility to True Father, always seeking to fulfill Father’s wishes and living in accordance with his birthright to the best of his ability. As the chosen inheritor of the birthright, he has made God and True Father proud.

The principle of the birthright, or “inheritor and successor”, was not something that came out of nowhere. It started as part of the Principle of Creation, was applied in the Principle of Restoration, and fulfilled in the Messiah’s family.
