

Presentation of Autobiography at Leipzig Book Fair

Leipzig, Germany, 16. – 18. March 2012

The German Unification Movement through its publishing house Kando-Verlag participated as exhibitor at the prestigious Leipzig Bookfair from March 16 till 18. Most prominent book on display by Kando-Verlag was the German translation of True Father's autobiography.

The autobiography was displayed at two locations: first at the exhibition sites, where Nina Kirchberger and Fritz Piepenburg held conversations with visitors and second at the bookshop of the fair, where people could freely buy books presented by exhibitors. Other books on display by Kando-Verlag were the Divine Principle black book (which amazingly caused quite some attraction among the visitors – one young lady asked "is this book written by God?") and Unification Theology of Young Oon Kim. The number of sales was not that big, but many looked at the range of books and picked up one of the folders displayed by Kando-Verlag. The book fair had a record of 163.500 visitors. 2071 publishing houses from 44 nations exhibited their products.

