

7 Day Divine Principle Workshop

Seminarhaus Neumuehle, Bad Camberg, Germany, 13. – 19. July 2014

After the near completion of the restoration of the Seminarhaus Neumuehle near Bad Camberg, Germany, the German church conducted its first 7-Day Workshop at the newly renovated facilities for the first time.

From July 13th till July 19th a small group of three guests and four staff people (including the lecturers) gathered in the same seminar room, where many of our German members had their first 7-days workshop experiences way back in the late 70ies.

One guest from the Hamburg community has a particular story: he has been 8 times in North Korea. During one of his trips, he asked his guide about a certain building in Pyeong-yang and was told that this was the Peace Embassy of the Unification Movement. Puzzled by this, he did more research and finally found our movement in Hamburg. He will spend the second week of his school holidays in Madrid and asked for the address of the Peace Embassy there for visiting.

The other two came from Stuttgart.

We had a lovely week with great weather and made good use of the afternoons for hiking and sightseeing as well.

With this workshop, we made a new beginning for our Seminarhaus Neumuehle, which will from now on serve as the main workshop site of the German church. The facilities are open for European-wide workshops as well.
